Immediate Action Is Asked to Repair 209

Dissatisfied

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson tells a news conference in Washington, Feb. 15, some agriculture department employes in the field are working against the administration's farm policies and seeking to undermine both President Eisenhower and himself. He said a "careful study" of the situation will be made in the interest of gaining "maximum efficiency and loyalty." (AP Wirephoto).

Road Between Here and Port Jervis Used by Many Vacationists

A resolution calling for "immediate steps to correct and amend the deplorable condition of" Route 209 between Kingston and Port Jervis was adopted at a meeting of the Route 209 Association in Ellenville Monday night.

A committee was appointed to consult with Senators Arthur H. Wicks and Thomas C. Desmond and Assemblymen Kenneth Wilson, Wilson C. Van Deuser and Hyman E. Mintz, and then to present the resolution to Bertram D. Tallamy, state superintendent of public works.

Named to the committee were Loren Finkle of Summitville, chairman of the association; Albert Kurdt, Kingston Chamber of Commerce; Richard Cleary, Port Jervis Chamber of Commerce; Donald Downs, Kerhonkson Lions Club, and Harry M. Thayer, editor of the Ellenville Press.

Road Widely Used

Points listed in the resolution included these:

Route 209 between Port Jervis and Kingston is used by more than 150,000 vacationists between Decoration Day and Labor Day. More than 20,000 vacationists use it during the winter season.

There is no railroad passenger service between Port Jervis and Kingston, and none between New York city, Wurtsboro, Ellenville, Napanoch and Kerhonkson.

Key Highway

Route 209 is a key highway for school buses.

A "much greater volume" of traffic will use it after the Thruway and Kingston-Rhinecliff bridges are completed.

Route 209 is heavily used for transportation of farm produce to city markets.

Mail service between Port Jervis and Kingston is by motorized highway units.

Route 209 has been designated a "primary road" by civil defense authorities.

It is a vital highway for rural fire departments under the Mutual Aid plan.

It is vital to industrial expansion in the area.

Bills Introduced To Finance Rest Of State Thruway

Mahoney Measure Would Permit Borrowing —Estimate About 350 Millions

Albany, Feb. 16 (AP)—Legislation to finance the remainder of the state thruway was introduced today.

Walter J. Mahoney, Senate Republican majority leader offered a bill that would permit the Thruway Authority to borrow money, through revenue notes and bonds, to build four spurs and a 70-mile extension from Buffalo to the Pennsylvania line at Ripley, N. Y.

Although the bills did not specify how much would be required, it has been estimated the cost will be approximately 350 million dollars.

The main part of the thruway, 427 miles from New York to Buffalo, is costing at least 500 million dollars.

Mahoney's first measure lists these four spurs:

From a point southeast of Albany to the Massachusetts line.

From the Bronx to the Connecticut line.

From Buffalo to Niagara Falls.

From Nyack to a proposed extension of the New Jersey Turnpike.

Would Be Paid Back

The money borrowed would be

Alexander Nominated

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower yesterday nominated Archie A. Alexander, a Negro, to be governor of the Virgin Islands. Alexander, 65, is from Des Moines, Iowa, and is associated with the construction firm of Alexander and Repass. Eisenhower announced simultaneously he has accepted the resignation of the present Virgin Islands governor, Morris F. De Castro, effective upon Alexander's qualification. Alexander, who currently lives in Washington, is a trustee of Tuskegee Institute in Alabama and is director of the Supreme Liberty Life Insurance Co. of Chicago.

Industrial Group to Delay Action in Deference to IBM

The Kingston Industrial Development Corporation will extend full cooperation to IBM and existing industries, but will defer plans for hiring a full-time paid director, it was decided at a meeting of subscribers at the court house Monday night.

Subscribers decided to study where the corporation's efforts should be directed before taking further action. The group's purpose, it was decided, should not be to bring in industries indiscriminately to compete with IBM for the labor supply at this time.

To Return Money

Some $800 mailed in unsolicited to the corporation will be refunded, it was decided. It was pointed out that the corporation to date had merely sought subscriptions, or pledges, and had never asked for money.

The group of subscribers made it clear in their discussion, however, that there is no cause for abandonment of the corporation's work.

Instead, they suggested such areas for study as aid to existing industries, promotion of a good public "attitude" in Kingston, cooperation with the school system along vocational lines, and eventual attraction of industries not connected with or dependent upon IBM, so as to guard against Kingston becoming a one-industry town."

Outlines Action

B. C. Anderson, vice president, presided at Monday night's meeting in the absence of the president, Robert Peebles.

Anderson outlined the activities of the group since its formation. Exploratory work included meetings with the State Department of Commerce, field trips to other cities, and consultation with Edward Ellingwood, director of the Keene Foundation for Industrial Development, Keene, N. H.

Prior to the announcement that IBM will build a plant here, the directors had decided to seek pledges toward the employment of a full-time director. These plans, it was agreed last night, will be deferred.

Riot Police Break Violence in Rome

Outbreak Occurs During One-Day Strike; 60 Arrested

Rome, Feb. 16 (AP) — Heavily-armed riot police quickly smashed the first outbreak of violence today in connection with a Communist-called one-day general strike in Rome.

A commissioner of police was injured by a flying stone. At least 60 demonstrators, including women, were taken into custody.

Flying squads of police in their red riot jeeps dashd into the crowd of several hundred demonstrators as they marched through one of downtown Rome's main streets, snarling mid-day traffic.

The Red-led walkout had twin aims—to boost wages and to harass the shaky new government of Premier Mario Scelba.

The demonstrators, mostly students, carried huge posters demanding higher pay. Police acted as they marched into busy Via Del Corso, and quickly chased most of them down side streets. Those who didn't move fast enough were hustled into police vans.

Police took about a dozen other demonstrators into custody at a smaller demonstration in Via Del Tritone, another downtown thoroughfare.

Handbills Circulated

Other youths in cars and on foot circulated through Rome distributing handbills demanding "higher pay and work for the unemployed."

A police lieutenant said the ringleaders of the demonstration were Communists.

The strike was staggered in timing and appeared only partly effective. Bakers led the walkout. They banked their fires at midnight. Only yesterday's hard bread was available on market counters.

At 8:30 a. m. buses and street cars halted in the first of two

Jobless Person Is Blamed; 3 Are in Memorial Hospital

Albany, Feb. 16 (AP)—A jobless woman apparently went berserk today and shot five women relatives, then turned the gun on herself, state police said. Two sisters were shot to death.

Miss Marion Gilbert, 30, and her sister, Virginia Gilbert, 26, were found dead on the living-room floor of their home in suburban Clinton Heights.

Another sister, Eleanor, 33, was taken to Albany Memorial Hospital and was reported in critical condition with a bullet wound in the forehead. State Police Inspector Joseph Sayers said that the weapon, a .22 caliber rifle, had been found near Eleanor and that the other wounded women said she had wielded the gun.

However, Sayers said the survivors all were rather confused when police first questioned them.

Also in Hospital

Also in the hospital, but not considered in serious condition, were:

Mrs. Eleanor Gilbert, 58, mother of the three girls, and her two sisters, Mrs. Katherine Bauman, 59, and Miss Florence Haggerty, 53.

Police said the three sisters had just been laid off from their jobs at the Watervliet Arsenal.

The women all lived together in the three-bedroom brick house.

Miss Haggerty, an employe of the Veterans Hospital in Albany, was the only one still employed.

She notified police of the shooting.

Awakens, Screams

Sayers said first reports were that shortly before 3 a. m., EST, Virginia awakened and screamed, thinking she heard an intruder in the house.

Sayers said Eleanor evidently went down to the cellar and removed a fuse.

The other women were shot as

Austria Rejects Red 'Freedom' Proposal

Would End Troop Use In Country

Otherwise, Government Would Not Get Its Independence, Big 4 Told

Berlin, Feb. 16 (AP) — Austria formally rejected today Russia's proposal to give the little nation "full independence" while reserving the right to keep occupation troops there indefinitely.

Austria's Foreign Minister Leopold Figl told the Big Four foreign minister's conference acceptance of the Soviet proposals would deprive his country of the most essential aim of an independence treaty—the withdrawal of foreign occupation troops.

"The Austrian federal government has authorized me to state officially that it can, therefore, not agree to any change of the present treaty draft," Figl added.

A special meeting of the Austrian cabinet this morning had outlined the Austrian stand and instructions had been sent to Figl.

Figl took the floor to voice his government's snub of Moscow at the outset of the Big Four session in West Berlin's Allied Control Authority building. He had come there directly from luncheon in the Russian embassy with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Worked on 7 Years

The treaty acceptable to Austria, Figl said, is the one that the four occupation powers have been working on for seven years. Forty-seven of the 52 articles had been approved and the Russians had amendments for the remaining five before the Berlin conference.

The west announced it would accept these five Soviet amendments and was ready to sign the treaty Thursday at 3 p. m. (Berlin time).

Molotov wriggled out of that and presented new terms which would permit the Soviet army, and the other foreign troops, to remain on Austrian soil until German unification is accomplished. He already had torpedoed German unity.

It remained for the Austrian foreign minister to make the deadlock official and complete this afternoon.

No Military Bases

Figl sought to reassure Russia about Austria's future intentions.

"I have clearly said," Figl declared, "that Austria will do everything to keep itself free of foreign military influences. That means that we will grant foreign powers no military bases."

He made a strong appeal for the completion of the treaty here and for the full restoration of Austria's independence before the Berlin conference breaks up Thursday but he had no prospect of success.

Earlier in the day it was learned that the western ministers may propose to Russia immediate steps to make life more bearable inside divided Germany by lowering barriers between the eastern and western zones.

Such an easing of border restrictions is considered one positive gain which might be salvaged out of the wreckage of Big Four efforts here to unify Germany and make a German peace.

American officials said Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov probably would be asked to agree to a meeting at once of the high commissioners of Russia, the United States, Britain and France for the purpose of removing or lessening barriers between the Communist east and free west.

Points Include

Points that may be taken up include:

1. Reopening of interzonal crossing points that have been closed for years. This would facilitate especially the highly developed transport of freight by truck.

2. Elimination of the "death zone," a quarter-mile-wide strip of plowed land on the Soviet side of the east-west zonal frontier. Any German caught in that area without permission is liable to immediate gunfire from the Soviet-trained Communist police.

3. Restoration of telephone service and street car lines between divided East and West Berlin.

One American informant said there does not seem to be much West German pressure for trade with East Germany, that the West Germany are much more in-

4 Officers Take Data On Charge

Decision Will Be Made Whether to Try U. S. Colonel on Germ War Confession

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—A panel of high-ranking officers set out today to try to decide whether to recommend a court martial for Marine Col. Frank W. Schwable who made a false germ warfare confession while a war prisoner of the Communists in Korea.

Three Marine generals and an admiral, sitting as a court of inquiry, were to begin taking testimony to help them determine why Schwable, the senior Marine officer taken by the Reds in Korea told his captors the United Nations used germ warfare weapons.

Schwable, who lives in nearby Arlington, Va., repudiated that confession after he was freed last year in a prisoner exchange. He said in a statement he signed the confession only after the Reds degraded and humiliated him and wore him out both physically and mentally.

Court Not Authorized

The inquiry court is not authorized to make any finding of guilt or innocence. It is charged with making a report, on the basis of which the Marine Corps will decide whether to court martial Schwable.

It was not known in advance whether the hearing would be opened to the press and public. That decision rested with the court.

Since Schwable and the Marines are generally agreed on the basic facts, the court's recommendations may be based on what it learns about the physical and psychological torture inflicted on the colonel.

Gen. Lemuel B. Shepherd, the Marine Corps commandant, made this clear when he said the court is to give full consideration to the "unique psychological and mental factors incident to the Communist device of physical torture accompanied by mental torture."

One of 35 Signers

Schwable is one of 35 Americans who signed germ warfare confessions while in Red captivity. Thirty-three were in the air force and two were Marines: Schwable and Maj. Roy H. Bley of Cabool, Mo.

Statute Is Sought To Curb Rackets Of Phony Charity

'Shocking Abuses' Are Disclosed by Committee, Lawmakers Are Told —Would Force Registration

Albany, Feb. 16 (AP)—Phony philanthropies are doing great harm to honest, useful charities, Gov. Dewey said today in calling for enactment of regulations to curb the cheaters.

In a special message to the Legislature, the governor said a joint legislative committee had "disclosed shocking instances of abuse" by charity rackets.

Dewey pressed the lawmakers to enact legislation "which will effectively curb the operation of dishonest agencies and promoters who do damage to the immensely useful, honest and competently administered charitable and philanthropic agencies of the state and nation."

At the same time, the committee introduced legislation to compel registration of professional fund raisers, require written consent for the use of big names in soliciting funds, and force charitable organizations to file data on fund drives with the State Social Welfare Department.

Dewey told the Legislature the committee's proposals were designed to "avoid government intrusion into operations of the bona fide charitable organization."

"The objective," Dewey said, "is to enable a contributor to learn the financial facts concerning any charitable organization which seeks his support, and to provide legal powers to government to deal with abuses."

Took 25 Millions

The joint committee reported today that it had found that swindlers had milked New Yorkers for 25 million dollars a year through shady charity drives.

In its report to the Legislature, the committe said it was estimated that from 20 to 25 million dollars a year went into "outright charity rackets" in the state. About 750 millions are given to charity each year in New York.

Bills outlining a system on controlling charities by exposing them to the glare of publicity were introduced into the Legislature by members of the seven-man committee.

One measure would require all but religious charitable groups to register with the Social Welfare Department and file annual reports of incomes and spending. A second would extend the same provisions to fund-raising outfits.

A third measure would forbid any organization to list a person's name as a sponsor of its charity drive without his written consent.

Listed for Study

With an eye to the future, the committee said it had been "impossible to examine all aspects of abuses in the complex field of philanthropy." These questions were listed for future study:

1. Should the sending of unordered merchandise through the mails in fund-raising appeals be banned?

2. Should telephone solicitations

President Is Firm Against Broader Part in Indochina

Pressure From 2 Nations Increases — Review of U. S. Policy Is Possibility

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower was described today as standing firm against increased urging from the French and British for broader American participation in the Indochina War.

The President was said by informed sources to have told Republican congressional leaders the only manpower commitments he intends to make are for 200 armed services mechanics already sent to Indochina, plus permitting civilians to volunteer to fly French planes. Shipments of American material are reportedly being stepped up.

The President told a news conference last week he could not conceive a greater tragedy than for the United States to get heavily engaged in an all-out war in that area.

Have Joined French

Informed sources said the President indicated that because of their interest in Malaya the British have joined the French in urging more American help for Indochina's anti-Communist

'Here to Eternity' Gets 13 Hollywood Nominations

Hollywood, Feb. 16 (AP)"From Here to Eternity" has swept through with 13 nominations in the Oscar derby and appears to be the picture to beat.

The nominees, which were announced last night showed a strong favoring for the hard-bitten army drama. It draw an amazing five nominations for its stars and at least three of them were strongly favored to win.

Current Hollywood betting favors tough Burt Lancaster for the top Oscar because of his sergent's role in "Eternity." Deborah Kerr, who abandoned queenly roles to play an army wife of loose morals, could also be a winner, although Audrey Hepburn of "Roman Holiday" appears the favorite so far.

Crooner Frank Sinatra and Donna Reed appear to be heavy choices for the supporting Oscars. Although both had star billing in "Eternity" they were classified as supporting players.

The major nominations were:

BEST ACTOR—Lancaster; Marlon Brando, "Julius Caesar;" William Holden, "Stalag 17."

BEST ACTRESS—Miss Kerr, "From Here to Eternity;" Miss Hepburn; Leslie Caron, "Lili;" Ava Gardner, "Mogambo;" Maggie McNamara, "The Moon is Blue."

BEST SUPPORTING ACTRESS—Miss Reed; Grace Kelly, "Mogambo;" Geraldine Page, "Hondo;" Marjorie Rambeau, "Torch Song;" Thelma Ritter, "Pickup on South Street."

BEST SUPPORTING ACTOR—Sinatra; Eddie Albert, "Roman Holiday;" Brandon De Wilde, "Shane;" Robert Strauss, "Stalag 17;" Jack Palance, "Shane."

BEST SONG—"The Moon Is Blue," from the film "The Moon

Wicks' Committee Will Take Stand Against Outside Bets

Albany, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Wicks Committee investigating horse racing is expected to take a stand against off-track betting, but a Democratic member, Sen. Harry Gittleson of Brooklyn, says he favors licensed wagering away from tracks.

The report of the committee, headed by Sen. Arthur H. Wicks, Kingston Republican, will be submitted to the Legislature later this month.

Gittleson told a reporter that "it is hypocritical for the state to permit betting on horses inside a track and forbid it outside."

The Wicks Committee also is expected to include in its report a recommendation that part of the flat tracks' 4 per cent take on the 15 per cent betting "bite" be allocated for use in renovating present plants or building a new one.

It is understood that one-quarter of one per cent is the amount the committee is thinking of recommending.

Belmont is the only fairly modern plant of the four flat tracks in the state. Saratoga, Jamaica and Aqueduct long have been outmoded. Even Belmont could stand many improvements.

There has been agitation for a new track. The racing associations concerned want to help finance it through an additional "bite" of the pari-mutuel tax. Gov. Dewey's administration already has made it known there's not a chance.

The Wicks Committee's report, it is understood, will recommend a reduction in the pari-mutuel take of the harness racing tracks —in line with Dewey's thinking— and presumably a corresponding increase in the state's share.

The report will urge, however, that the Legislature consider imposing a smaller increase—or possibly no boost at all—on the take of the four upstate tracks—Batavia Downs, Buffalo Raceway, Vernon Downs and Saratoga Raceway.

A member of the committee said these tracks work on a much narrower margin of profit than do Roosevelt and Yonkers Raceways, because of their relatively small attendance and betting handle.

Pressure From 2 Nations Increases — Review of U. S. Policy Is Possibility

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower was described today as standing firm against increased urging from the French and British for broader American participation in the Indochina War.

The President was said by informed sources to have told Republican congressional leaders the only manpower commitments he intends to make are for 200 armed services mechanics already sent to Indochina, plus permitting civilians to volunteer to fly French planes. Shipments of American material are reportedly being stepped up.

The President told a news conference last week he could not conceive a greater tragedy than for the United States to get heavily engaged in an all-out war in that area.

Have Joined French

Informed sources said the President indicated that because of their interest in Malaya the British have joined the French in urging more American help for Indochina's anti-Communist

Would End Troop Use In Country

Otherwise, Government Would Not Get Its Independence, Big 4 Told

Berlin, Feb. 16 (AP) — Austria formally rejected today Russia's proposal to give the little nation "full independence" while reserving the right to keep occupation troops there indefinitely.

Austria's Foreign Minister Leopold Figl told the Big Four foreign minister's conference acceptance of the Soviet proposals would deprive his country of the most essential aim of an independence treaty—the withdrawal of foreign occupation troops.

"The Austrian federal government has authorized me to state officially that it can, therefore, not agree to any change of the present treaty draft," Figl added.

A special meeting of the Austrian cabinet this morning had outlined the Austrian stand and instructions had been sent to Figl.

Figl took the floor to voice his government's snub of Moscow at the outset of the Big Four session in West Berlin's Allied Control Authority building. He had come there directly from luncheon in the Russian embassy with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Worked on 7 Years

The treaty acceptable to Austria, Figl said, is the one that the four occupation powers have been working on for seven years. Forty-seven of the 52 articles had been approved and the Russians had amendments for the remaining five before the Berlin conference.

The west announced it would accept these five Soviet amendments and was ready to sign the treaty Thursday at 3 p. m. (Berlin time).

Molotov wriggled out of that and presented new terms which would permit the Soviet army, and the other foreign troops, to remain on Austrian soil until German unification is accomplished. He already had torpedoed German unity.

It remained for the Austrian foreign minister to make the deadlock official and complete this afternoon.

No Military Bases

Figl sought to reassure Russia about Austria's future intentions.

"I have clearly said," Figl declared, "that Austria will do everything to keep itself free of foreign military influences. That means that we will grant foreign powers no military bases."

He made a strong appeal for the completion of the treaty here and for the full restoration of Austria's independence before the Berlin conference breaks up Thursday but he had no prospect of success.

Earlier in the day it was learned that the western ministers may propose to Russia immediate steps to make life more bearable inside divided Germany by lowering barriers between the eastern and western zones.

Such an easing of border restrictions is considered one positive gain which might be salvaged out of the wreckage of Big Four efforts here to unify Germany and make a German peace.

American officials said Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov probably would be asked to agree to a meeting at once of the high commissioners of Russia, the United States, Britain and France for the purpose of removing or lessening barriers between the Communist east and free west.

Points Include

Points that may be taken up include:

1. Reopening of interzonal crossing points that have been closed for years. This would facilitate especially the highly developed transport of freight by truck.

2. Elimination of the "death zone," a quarter-mile-wide strip of plowed land on the Soviet side of the east-west zonal frontier. Any German caught in that area without permission is liable to immediate gunfire from the Soviet-trained Communist police.

3. Restoration of telephone service and street car lines between divided East and West Berlin.

One American informant said there does not seem to be much West German pressure for trade with East Germany, that the West Germany are much more in-

Industrial Group to Delay Action in Deference to IBM

The Kingston Industrial Development Corporation will extend full cooperation to IBM and existing industries, but will defer plans for hiring a full-time paid director, it was decided at a meeting of subscribers at the court house Monday night.

Subscribers decided to study where the corporation's efforts should be directed before taking further action. The group's purpose, it was decided, should not be to bring in industries indiscriminately to compete with IBM for the labor supply at this time.

To Return Money

Some $800 mailed in unsolicited to the corporation will be refunded, it was decided. It was pointed out that the corporation to date had merely sought subscriptions, or pledges, and had never asked for money.

The group of subscribers made it clear in their discussion, however, that there is no cause for abandonment of the corporation's work.

Instead, they suggested such areas for study as aid to existing industries, promotion of a good public "attitude" in Kingston, cooperation with the school system along vocational lines, and eventual attraction of industries not connected with or dependent upon IBM, so as to guard against Kingston becoming a one-industry town."

Outlines Action

B. C. Anderson, vice president, presided at Monday night's meeting in the absence of the president, Robert Peebles.

Anderson outlined the activities of the group since its formation. Exploratory work included meetings with the State Department of Commerce, field trips to other cities, and consultation with Edward Ellingwood, director of the Keene Foundation for Industrial Development, Keene, N. H.

Prior to the announcement that IBM will build a plant here, the directors had decided to seek pledges toward the employment of a full-time director. These plans, it was agreed last night, will be deferred.

'Here to Eternity' Gets 13 Hollywood Nominations

Hollywood, Feb. 16 (AP)"From Here to Eternity" has swept through with 13 nominations in the Oscar derby and appears to be the picture to beat.

The nominees, which were announced last night showed a strong favoring for the hard-bitten army drama. It draw an amazing five nominations for its stars and at least three of them were strongly favored to win.

Current Hollywood betting favors tough Burt Lancaster for the top Oscar because of his sergent's role in "Eternity." Deborah Kerr, who abandoned queenly roles to play an army wife of loose morals, could also be a winner, although Audrey Hepburn of "Roman Holiday" appears the favorite so far.

Crooner Frank Sinatra and Donna Reed appear to be heavy choices for the supporting Oscars. Although both had star billing in "Eternity" they were classified as supporting players.

The major nominations were:

BEST ACTOR—Lancaster; Marlon Brando, "Julius Caesar;" William Holden, "Stalag 17."

BEST ACTRESS—Miss Kerr, "From Here to Eternity;" Miss Hepburn; Leslie Caron, "Lili;" Ava Gardner, "Mogambo;" Maggie McNamara, "The Moon is Blue."

BEST SUPPORTING ACTRESS—Miss Reed; Grace Kelly, "Mogambo;" Geraldine Page, "Hondo;" Marjorie Rambeau, "Torch Song;" Thelma Ritter, "Pickup on South Street."

BEST SONG—"The Moon Is Blue," from the film "The Moon

Wicks' Committee Will Take Stand Against Outside Bets

Albany, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Wicks Committee investigating horse racing is expected to take a stand against off-track betting, but a Democratic member, Sen. Harry Gittleson of Brooklyn, says he favors licensed wagering away from tracks.

The report of the committee, headed by Sen. Arthur H. Wicks, Kingston Republican, will be submitted to the Legislature later this month.

Gittleson told a reporter that "it is hypocritical for the state to permit betting on horses inside a track and forbid it outside."

The Wicks Committee also is expected to include in its report a recommendation that part of the flat tracks' 4 per cent take on the 15 per cent betting "bite" be allocated for use in renovating present plants or building a new one.

It is understood that one-quarter of one per cent is the amount the committee is thinking of recommending.

Belmont is the only fairly modern plant of the four flat tracks in the state. Saratoga, Jamaica and Aqueduct long have been outmoded. Even Belmont could stand many improvements.

There has been agitation for a new track. The racing associations concerned want to help finance it through an additional "bite" of the pari-mutuel tax. Gov. Dewey's administration already has made it known there's not a chance.

The Wicks Committee's report, it is understood, will recommend a reduction in the pari-mutuel take of the harness racing tracks —in line with Dewey's thinking— and presumably a corresponding increase in the state's share.

The report will urge, however, that the Legislature consider imposing a smaller increase—or possibly no boost at all—on the take of the four upstate tracks—Batavia Downs, Buffalo Raceway, Vernon Downs and Saratoga Raceway.

A member of the committee said these tracks work on a much narrower margin of profit than do Roosevelt and Yonkers Raceways, because of their relatively small attendance and betting handle.

Bills in Legislature

Albany, Feb. 16 (AP)—Two battle cries—the proposed Panther Mountain Dam and the Niagara Power Development — rang through the Legislature again today.

A resolution calling for building of the dam in the southwestern Adirondacks and a bill to strip the State Power Authority of its control over Niagara were introduced last night.

They were among a deluge of bills sliding in under today's 2 p. m. deadline. For the rest of the session, only the Senate and Assembly Rules Committees may sponsor legislation.

The Senate last night approved a bill to plug a loophole in the state's law requiring drinking drivers to take a chemical test if local authorities so request and okayed four measures to encourage construction of off -street parking facilities.

Signs Two Measures

Gov. Dewey signed two measures making minor changes in the Election Law. One covers voters registered in the wrong district and the other removal from registers in communities of less than 5,000 of persons who fail to vote regularly.

The Panther mountain plan, sponsored by Republican Sen. Henry A. Wise of Watertown and Democratic Assemblyman James J. McGuiness of Albany, could be effected only through a constitutional amendment.

The Cooke-Ostrander Amendment, endorsed by the voters last November, requires a statewide referendum on construction of any stream-regulating project in the state forest preserve.

The Niagara proposal was a reversal of viewpoint for Sen. John H. Cooke, Erie county Republican.

Cooke said in a statement he had "voted wrong" in 1951 when he supported legislation handing the Power Authority jurisdiction over Niagara power.

Introduces Bill

Cooke introduced a bill to repeal the Legislature's action and "give our people and the legislators an opportunity to determine if Niagara should be developed by socialistic government or private industry."

Panther Dam, still at issue in the courts, was advanced by Wise and McGuiness as a flood control measure for the Black River valleys. The reservoir would be constructed on the south branch of the Moose River.

The bill on the drinking driver test, sponsored by Republican Sen. Seymour Halpern of Queens, would provide for a hearing to be given any motorist who, after arrest, refused to take the chemical test.

His driver's license would be suspended pending the hearing.

Justice Samuel W. Eager of State Supreme Court held last month that the state law was unconstitutional because it did not provide for such a hearing.

Would Allow Determination

The Halpern Bill also would allow the police officer to determine the kind of test to be used—blood, saliva, urine or breath.

The off-street parking measures were sponsored by Sen. Thomas C. Desmond, Newburgh Republican. They would:

Allow cities planning parking facilities to issue bonds covering land, buildings and meters on a 15-year basis, instead of five as at present; allow erection of open-decked parking garages under the same bond arrangement; give cities the specific right to fine overtime parkers in off-street municipal lots, and allow cities to regulate parking on city-owned property adjoining public buildings.

Both of the election law changes were introduced by Sen. Frank S. McCullough, Rye Republican. In the first, election inspectors and central registration boards would be empowered to ask a change of registration when a voter signed up in the wrong district.

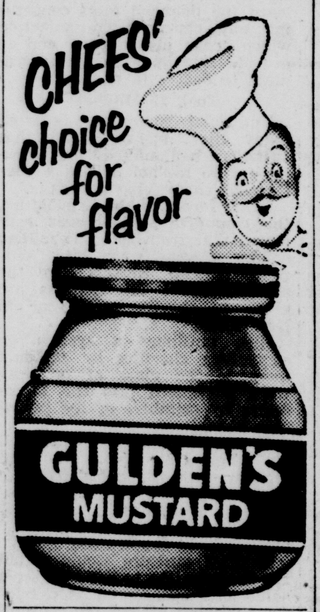

The second would reword the law on removing non-voters to say "registers of voters" instead of "voting lists."

Residents of communities of less than 5,000 need register only once, provided they vote at least every four years. Voters in larger communities must register before each election.

Voting Is Held

Albany, Feb. 16 (AP)—Voters in four normally Democratic districts—three in New York city and one in Buffalo—went to the polls today to elect state assemblymen. The balloting was in the 5th and 19th districts of Kings county (Brooklyn), the 14th in Manhattan and the 5th in Erie county.

Mrs. Brutkowski Gets $10,000 for Mail Truck Injury

New York, Feb. 15 (Special)—Mrs. Catherine Brutkowski, 69, of Kingston, was awarded $10,000 in Federal Court here today for injuries she received when struck by a mail truck while she was trying to rescue a 14-months-old child from its path.

Mrs. Brutkowski's suit against the Federal Government, and two suits filed by Ross Delaven, of 251 Abeel street, Kingston, for himself and his child, Dona Marie, were consolidated and tried before Judge Thomas F. Murphy in Federal Court here last January. Judge Murphy handed down his decision today awarding $10,000 to the rescuer, and another $188 for the child's minor injuries and medical expenses.

Driver Called Negligent

According to Judge Murphy's findings, the accident occurred in Kingston on June 24, 1950, at about noon, east of the intersection of Third and Fourth avenues there. According to the judge, post office employe Edward Reinhard was driving a 1929 Chevrolet three-quarter ton truck "carelessly, recklessly and negligently." According to the charged filed by the Kingston residents, the truck was speeding on the wrong side of the street when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Brutkowski, in attempting to rescue the child, was hit by the truck and sustained a fractured neck, according to Judge Murphy, from which she "suffered considerably."

When Mrs. Brutkowski was hit by the mail truck Dona was thrown from her arms, the judge finds, and suffered only "minor abrasions of the skin of her limbs."

When it comes to Protection ..it pays to have the BEST

Mask, chest protector, shin guards — all are essential equipment for any budding young "backstop". But they won't do him any good if he forgets to put them on before the first ball is pitched.

Dependable insurance is like that, too. It's one thing you can't get when you need it most. After an accident or loss has occurred, it's too late to buy better insurance if the policy you have proves unsatisfactory.

So don't gamble with "cheap" insurance. Buy only the BEST — and buy it today.

Car Operation Is $23,100,000 Item In Ulster County

New York, Feb. 16 (Special) — How much does it cost residents of Ulster county to own and operate their passenger cars?

An estimate, based on figures produced by the American Automobile Association, shows that it is about $566 a year in fixed expenses and 3.5 cents for every mile driven.

Applying this national average to the local scene, where the latest registration figures show 25,425 passenger cars in use, we get $23,100,000 as the annual cost in Ulster county. Per car, the cost is $908.

Travel 9,700 a Year

This assumes that local drivers travel 9,700 miles a year, which is the national average. There is little variation in this respect as between urban and rural residents.

The fixed cost, equal to $1.55 a day, covers depreciation, license fees and insurance—fire, theft, property damage and liability ($15,000 and $30,000). This expense piles up daily, even if your car isn't used.

As to the 3.5 cents per mile figure, it covers gas, oil, maintenance and tires.

If you are a 10,000 mile-a-year driver, your operating costs total $350 and your fixed charges $566. The total, $916, is equal to nearly 9.2 cents a mile.

The 5,000 mile-a-year driver fares worse on a mileage rate. It costs him 14.8 cents a mile since he has the same fixed charges to meet.

On the other hand, cars driven 20,000 miles cost only 6.5 cents a mile on an annual basis.

Charges Vary

The fixed charges vary for different parts of the country. The range, according to data presented by the AAA, is from a low of $1.38 a day, in Traverse City, Mich., to a high of $1.88, in New York city.

Any estimate of driving costs should take into consideration the recognized added expense of driving in congested urban traffic, notes the AAA. Such costs, according to a recent study by the Los Angeles city government, are 15 per cent above normal.

KHS News

First in the series of broadcasts concerning the larger and more important Kingston High School club will be presented over the local radio station at 9:30 p. m., Wednesday. The program has been recorded by the school Radio Workshop class under the direction of Mrs. Anne McNelis.

Postal Employes Take Examination

An examination was held at central post office Saturday to establish an eligibility list for future supervisory positions. The test was part of a modernized personnel program set up by Postmaster General Summerfield to assure impartial appointments. Eleven local clerks and carriers took the test. The examination was supervised by Post Office Inspector Robert H. Daley. In the room also were Postmaster William R. Kraft, Robert E. Meeker, assistant postmaster, and William S. Wood, superintendent of mails. (Freeman photo)

Tillson Drivers To Vote on Union

New York, Feb. 15 (Special)—Truck drivers and warehousemen of P. Ballantine & Sons of Tillson, and 10 other companies belonging to the Mid-Hudson Valley Distributors will vote by mail ballot to determine if they want a union representative, the National Labor Relations Board announced here today.

Local 323, Beer Drivers Union, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, AFL, is seeking certification as bargaining agent of a single employe unit comprising workers of the Tillson concern and companies in Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Middletown, Troy, Albany, Utica, and Patterson, N. Y., and Mahway, N. J.

The mail ballots are due no later than March 5th at the NLRB's regional office in New York. Counting will be done on March 9th.

Sentencing Is Postponed

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Sentencing of Ernest Zelnick, former tax agent, and H. Harold Miller, accountant, was postponed yesterday to March 15 by Federal Judge Edward Weinfeld. Zelnick, 33, formerly of Kingston, pleaded guilty, and Miller, 43, formerly of Catskill, was convicted of extorting $3,000 from two Cairo, merchants. Both men are free under $1,000 bail each.

Library Is Attacked

New Delhi, Feb. 16 (AP)—A violent Communist-led mob attacked the United States information offices library in the heart of Calcutta tonight as an outgrowth of a teachers strike here, smashing windows and setting fire to the library, according to telephone reports reaching New Delhi.

Timoshenko Elected

Moscow, Feb. 16 (AP)—Marshall Semeon Timoshenko, one of Russia's World War 2 heroes, has been elected to the bureau of the Communist party's central committee in White Russia, newspapers arriving in Moscow today from that Soviet republic reported.

Apples Mean Prosperity

Fairbanks, Alaska (AP)—Remember when selling apples was a symbol of the big depression? They were a red-cheeked sign of prosperity recently in the Far North. They sold for 50 cents apiece. Bob Rice flew a box of the fruit to the remote village of Aklavik, in northwestern Canada, along with a cargo of machinery. He said the apples were snapped up at the premium price in an hour and a half.

Olive Fire School Courses Planned

A list of courses offered by the departmental fire school of the Olive Fire Department No. 1, Inc., was announced today.

John Adsit, secretary, said the school would operate on a basis of lecture, group discussion and practical work, when possible. The objective of the school is "to help make for a more efficient and successful fire department in the town of Olive. The success of this school will be determined by the interest and cooperation of every interested business man in the department."

Interested persons are requested to contact Fire Chief Albert Fox of Olive Bridge for details.

The school will meet at 8 p. m. on the following dates: Feb. 16, at Company 1, Olive Bridge; Feb. 23, at Company 2, Ashokan; March 16, at Company 3, West Shokan; March 30, at Company 1, Olive Bridge; April 6, at Company 2, Ashokan, and April 20, at Company 3, West Shokan.

Student Orators Address Post 150 Tonight on Rights

Two Kingston students entered in the New York State American Legion oratorical contest will address the regular monthly meeting of Kingston Post 150 at 8 p. m. today.

They are Thomas Conway, representing Kingston High School, and Catherine Gormley, representing St. Ursula's Academy. Conway and Miss Gormley placed first and second in the Ulster county contest.

They will speak tonight on the Bill of Rights.

The contests, sponsored on a national scale by the Legion, offer some valuable prizes. The top boy or girl in the state receives a four-year scholarship to any school of his or her choosing up to a maximum expenditure of $4000. The winners of each state compete against each other and the winner of this national contest receives an additional $4000.

The Ulster county contest was held at the Onteora School early in January with contestants from most of the high schools throughout the county represented. The contest is an annual affair which has as its aim the acquainting of school children with the rights of private citizens and in particular the Bill of Rights.

Mrs. Brutkowski Gets $10,000 for Mail Truck Injury

New York, Feb. 15 (Special)—Mrs. Catherine Brutkowski, 69, of Kingston, was awarded $10,000 in Federal Court here today for injuries she received when struck by a mail truck while she was trying to rescue a 14-months-old child from its path.

Mrs. Brutkowski's suit against the Federal Government, and two suits filed by Ross Delaven, of 251 Abeel street, Kingston, for himself and his child, Dona Marie, were consolidated and tried before Judge Thomas F. Murphy in Federal Court here last January. Judge Murphy handed down his decision today awarding $10,000 to the rescuer, and another $188 for the child's minor injuries and medical expenses.

Driver Called Negligent

According to Judge Murphy's findings, the accident occurred in Kingston on June 24, 1950, at about noon, east of the intersection of Third and Fourth avenues there. According to the judge, post office employe Edward Reinhard was driving a 1929 Chevrolet three-quarter ton truck "carelessly, recklessly and negligently." According to the charged filed by the Kingston residents, the truck was speeding on the wrong side of the street when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Brutkowski, in attempting to rescue the child, was hit by the truck and sustained a fractured neck, according to Judge Murphy, from which she "suffered considerably."

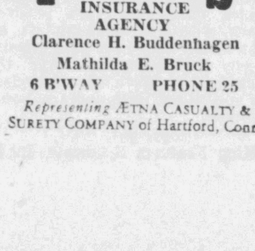

When Mrs. Brutkowski was hit by the mail truck, Dona was thrown from her arms, the judge finds, and suffered only "minor abrasions of the skin of her limbs."

When it comes to Protection ..it pays to have the BEST

Mask, chest protector, shin guards — all are essential equipment for any budding young "backstop". But they won't do him any good if he forgets to put them on before the first ball is pitched.

Dependable insurance is like that, too. It's one thing you can't get when you need it most. After an accident or loss has occurred, it's too late to buy better insurance if the policy you have proves unsatisfactory.

So don't gamble with "cheap" insurance. Buy only the BEST — and buy it today.

Car Operation Is $23,100,000 Item In Ulster County

New York, Feb. 16 (Special) — How much does it cost residents of Ulster county to own and operate their passenger cars?

An estimate, based on figures produced by the American Automobile Association, shows that it is about $566 a year in fixed expenses and 3.5 cents for every mile driven.

Applying this national average to the local scene, where the latest registration figures show 25,425 passenger cars in use, we get $23,100,000 as the annual cost in Ulster county. Per car, the cost is $908.

Travel 9,700 a Year

This assumes that local drivers travel 9,700 miles a year, which is the national average. There is little variation in this respect as between urban and rural residents.

The fixed cost, equal to $1.55 a day, covers depreciation, license fees and insurance—fire, theft, property damage and liability ($15,000 and $30,000). This expense piles up daily, even if your car isn't used.

As to the 3.5 cents per mile figure, it covers gas, oil, maintenance and tires.

If you are a 10,000 mile-a-year driver, your operating costs total $350 and your fixed charges $566. The total, $916, is equal to nearly 9.2 cents a mile.

The 5,000 mile-a-year driver fares worse on a mileage rate. It costs him 14.8 cents a mile since he has the same fixed charges to meet.

On the other hand, cars driven 20,000 miles cost only 6.5 cents a mile on an annual basis.

Charges Vary

The fixed charges vary for different parts of the country. The range, according to data presented by the AAA, is from a low of $1.38 a day, in Traverse City, Mich., to a high of $1.88, in New York city.

Any estimate of driving costs should take into consideration the recognized added expense of driving in congested urban traffic, notes the AAA. Such costs, according to a recent study by the Los Angeles city government, are 15 per cent above normal.

HEART FUND DRIVE

The Heart Fund financial campaign, which is underway here, deserves the generous support of all residents of Ulster county. The bulk of the money collected here will be used locally to further the work of the Heart Association.

Anyone who does not shy away from medical statistics knows that from year to year heart disease tenaciously keeps its place as the nation's No. 1 killer. Roughly half of all deaths in the United States are attributable to diseases of the heart and circulation. The afflictions strike all ages.

Deaths from these causes total more than three times the deaths from dread cancer, more than seven times the deaths from accidents, more than 25 times the deaths from tuberculosis, once the great scourge.

In World War II 292,000 Americans lost their lives in four years, and we were appalled. In a single year, heart disease and related ailments kill some 771,000 people in this country.

Yet everything suggests that the ravages of this disease would be much worse were it not for the determined fight now being made against it by American medicine. According to Dr. Robert L. King, president of the American Heart Association, some very important advances have been made in recent years.

There are new drugs and surgical procedures which can often reduce blood pressure when it threatens serious injury to heart, kidneys or brain.

With the aid of penicillin promptly administered, rheumatic fever, a menace to the heart, can be prevented.

Drugs exist which inhibit the clotting of blood and thus minimize the chance of fatal complications following heart attacks.

Nowadays the surgeon slices into the heart with his scalpel almost as a routine matter, correcting defects present from birth, or repairing damage to valves that have been scarred and narrowed by rheumatic fever.

Moreover, great progress has been made in programs to enable heart sufferers to continue as useful, productive members of society. Many "heart cripples" are being rehabilitated and retrained.

But the research which produces these new findings, these weapons against our greatest killer, takes a lot of money. This is the time of year when, through the Heart Fund drive, an appeal is made to all of us to contribute to further advances in the widening fight against the disease.

It is no exaggeration to say that the measure of our individual generosity in this cause will be, in sum, the measure of future progress toward curing or alleviating heart disease.

REDS NEAR HOME

While we have been concerned with the menace of communism in Europe and Asia, communism has gained a foothold in the New World. There can no longer be any doubt that Guatemala is now in the camp of the Reds and will do anything it can to discredit and damage the United States prestige in Latin America.

The pro-Communist Guatemalan government has wasted little time in imitating the techniques of more experienced Communist regimes. It has accused the United States of conspiring with the Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Venezuela and Nicaragua to invade Guatemala. The evidence offered in support of these charges is plainly manufactured. Our government has termed the accusations "unworthy of answer."

Despite the efforts of the United States to establish harmonious relationships with Latin America, there have always been people there who have feared American influence. The Guatemalan charges are aimed at that group. It is once again the "big lie" technique so effectively used by Hitler and Stalin.

The incident is a warning of what to expect from Guatemala. Keeping a weather eye out for Peron of Argentina is also indicated.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

BIPARTISAN GOVERNMENT

Our system of government differs from that of most European countries in that it is based on a strictly two-party system—one in power, one in opposition.

In such a country as France, there are numerous small parties. When it is necessary to "form a government," a phrase not usable in this country where the President is elected, the prospective Premier negotiates among the various parties, allocating seats in his Cabinet, and when he is assured of enough votes in the National Assembly to produce a majority, he takes office. In the Communist countries, only one party exists and the government represents that party.

Efforts to produce a bipartisan government in the United States have failed in time of war as well as peace. The closest to it was the bipartisan coalition during the Truman Administration led by Senator Robert A. Taft and Senator Harry F. Byrd. This, however, never produced a union of parties; actually it represented a split in each party.

Prior to General Eisenhower's nomination, there was something of an idea that he might be nominated by both parties. Nothing came of that because it is unnatural in our political system. Instead, the Democratic Party came under the control of the A.D.A. group. The quarrels in the Democratic Convention and during the election campaign disappeared in the present session of Congress. The Democrats are not split between a pro-Eisenhower and anti-Eisenhower clique. The Democratic Party is united in its intent upon winning the 1954 Congressional Election.

The Republicans are split between those supporters of the President who feel, as he apparently does, that there is still a prospect of a bipartisan coalition in support of the President's legislative program and those who believe that if they hit hard, they may win enough seats in the 1954 campaign to have a working majority in the Congress.

The Lincoln Birthday week has developed into a campaigning operation among Republicans to win elections. The celebrations are now scattered over a week or so and the Republican National Committee provides distinguished speakers. This year, for instance, the largest number of requests were for the presence of Senator McCarthy.

At these meetings, held in every part of the country, the audience has no desire to listen to stuffed-shirt speeches. They want inspirational speeches to stir their souls and to give them the opportunity to cheer and shout. It is a wonderful occasion for Republican Party members, just as the Jackson Day dinners do the same for the Democrats. The speakers of both parties attack the other party. Why Sam Rayburn and Stuart Symington should suddenly become sensitive about this kind of speech-making is a little surprising, because they have done plenty of it themselves in the course of their careers.

The issue raised is that some Republicans called all Democrats traitors, which, of course, never happened. It must be assumed that what really got under their skins is that Sherman Adams, the President's Chief-of-Staff, used the phrase, "Fear Deal." Politically, it is a devastating phrase. It could win an election. Nobody has done better with words since Franklin D. Roosevelt died and Sam Rosenman and Robert Sherwood ceased to coin telling, fighting, annihilating phrases.

It is impossible to believe, however, that Sherman Adams did not consult his associates about this phrase, "Fear Deal." Speeches such as he delivered are generally gone over by the White House entourage, particularly the speech-writers. It is too good a phrase for Adams to have kept to himself.

It seems to me that our statesmen do not laugh enough. Stuart Symington, who will probably run for President against President Eisenhower, is a gay person, delightful to the eye and ear. It would be just too bad if the people ever came to believe that as Symington advances in influence and power, he grows stuffy. Even if the times are tough, this country would be better off if we were more gay and if serious-minded men took themselves less seriously. If the Democrats are not careful, they will get Harry Truman again because, at any rate, he can laugh.

THE MECHANISM OF HEART FAILURE

Most of us, when we think of heart disease today, may think only of coronary thrombosis because it is the commonest form of heart disease. What we should remember is that what is called heart failure, congestive heart failure, is caused by too much work being put on the heart.

In International Forum, as published in Therapeutic Notes, Dr. Tinsley R. Harrison, Professor of Medicine, Medical College of Alabama, University of Alabama, Birmingham, states that heart failure occurs when too great disproportion exists between load on the heart and the strength of the heart, which, after all, is only a pump made of muscle. Despite the great importance of the heart, it is only a pump.

"There are two types of load: amount of blood to be pumped, termed inflow load, and resistance of the blood vessels against which the blood is pumped, which is called resistance load." There are, thus, really three factors—inflow load, resistance of blood vessels (arterial resistance) and the myocardial (muscular) strength of the heart.

Generally speaking, heart failure results from excessive inflow load, excessive blood vessel resistance, or decline in muscular strength of the heart muscle. Frequently, a combination of these factors exists.

Chief causes of heart failure due to increased inflow load are conditions caused by disturbed tissue metabolim (the building up and wearing down of tissues) such as poisoning from the thyroid gland, thin blood (anemia), increased volume of blood due to drugs used or due to too much fluid being used by the individual.

Commonest cause of heart failure due to increased inflow load is too rapid administration of fluids into the veins of elderly people. In young patients, increased inflow load is well tolerated. For instance, a young person, 20 to 30 years of age, may have severe goiter of the poisonous kind for months without developing heart failure. If he has organic heart disease, or is past the age of 60, such extra inflow may cause heart failure.

Dr. Harrison points out further that every patient with heart failure should be considered as having an increased inflow because in many instances such disorders are curable. Hence the physician should look for such signs as loud heart sounds, systolic murmurs (murmurs occurring with the first beat of the heart), increased pulsation at wrist, and an increased pulse rate.

"The one constant physiologic disturbance in patients with heart failure is a decline in heart output and increase in inflow. This is due to the heart not emptying completely before new blood arrives. This leaves more blood in the heart at the end of the first beat, which raises the blood pressure."

What is the treatment for congestive heart failure?

First, search and try to find any removable cause of heart failure such as infection and underactivity of the thyroid gland. Second, use of digitalis and methods of increasing the strength of the heart muscle by doing less phyical work and using quieting drugs. Living on a lower level mentally and physically is essential.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — "Milestone," the Georgia plantation of Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey near Thomasville, 33 miles north of Tallahassee, Fla., where President Eisenhower went to shoot quail, takes its name from an old road marker on the place. It's a standing joke in the family that Mrs. Humphrey has now moved the milestone around to two or three different places, in order to give it the proper rose-bower setting. So it no longer is any good as a road marker, for an accurate measurement of mileage.

When Nils Lennartson, Treasury Department information officer, was first told that his boss was taking the President to the Georgia estate, he said, "What's a 'milestone'? Is that the thing like a government job, that's hung around your neck?"

Patiently, it was explained to Mr. Lennartson that what he was thinking about was a "millstone."

"Oh!" said Mr. Lennartson, still a little incredulous. "Then what's a 'milestone'?"

"Down east in Maine, where you come from," it was explained to him, "they call 'em 'finger posts.'"

"Oh!" said Mr. Lennartson again. "Now that you put it in English, I get it."

Two Tickets to Georgia

Secretary and Mrs. Humphrey have been so busy in their new Washington life that they have been able to visit their Georgia estate only once in the last two years. That visit was supposed to be for a three-day weekend, but it was stretched to five days under unusual circumstances.

Mr. Humphrey, who was then the politically unknown head of the M. A. Hanna industries of Cleveland, likes to hunt, and this area abounds in quail, doves, wild turkey, deer, 'possum, racoon and fox. Mrs. Humphrey likes to hunt, too. On the third day of their visit, they were stretching their stay to the last possible minute in the field.

Just as the moment came when they knew they would have to leave for the long drive to the railroad, to make an evening train north, a big covey of quail was sighted. With his jaw set, Mr. Humphrey turned to Mrs. Humphrey and said, "We're going to miss that train. They stayed for two days more.

Not being able to get back to Georgia oftener himself, Secretary Humphrey figured out a smart move in inviting President Eisenhower to go down and hunt with him. When the boss goes along, any employe is justified in playing a little hooky himself.

Humphrey Is Dead Shot

The secretary is a Deadeye Dick shot. When President-elect Eisenhower, his designated Secretary of Defense C. E. Wilson, Mr. Humphrey and a select staff were returning to the U. S. on the cruiser Helena, after their pre-inauguration trip to Korea, there was some skeet shooting from the fantail. The Secretary of the Treasury-to-be outpointed all the others in the party. Shooting is said to be what gives him his good eye for figures.

While Mrs. Humphrey is a pretty good shot herself, her principal interest in Milestone is in the flowers. The 600-acre estate, and all the surrounding country for that matter, is at its best in the early spring. The dogwood is prolific under the pines, and the huge pink Cherokee roses, with single blossoms as big as two hands, grow wild and climb all over everything. Mrs. Humphrey says she never has to worry about her husband cutting out any of the dogwood undergrowth. It makes good cover for the game.

The Humphreys have owned Milestone for about 25 years. The main house is a one-story rambler, with five round, white columns in front to give it the southern air. This house is principally one large room which serves as living and dining room. There's a kitchen and cook's room at one end.

Near the main house are three cottages. Two of them will sleep eight people. The third is a kind of dormitory which is ordinarily used by the Humphrey grandchildren.

In addition to the main plantation of some 600 acres, which is largely hunting preserve with fields for the stable of ponies and mules and dog kennels, Secretary Humphrey has other farms in the area where he raises cotton, corn and peanuts.

Labor Leaders, Management Need to Study Approved Way of Cutting Down Strikes

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 16—A method of cutting down the number of strikes in America and at the same time increasing the value of collective bargaining has been approved by President Eisenhower as a desirable addition to federal law. But, unfortunately, labor-union leaders as well as some management groups have been rejecting the formula without studying the possibility of amending it to make it suitable to both sides.

There has been a great deal of misunderstanding, for instance, in recent weeks about a pre-strike vote to be taken among the workers. If the purpose of the vote were merely to find out whether the officers fully represent the union members in declaring a strike, there would be no value in the plan. For, on such occasions, the workers would always vote anyhow to uphold the hands of their negotiators.

But the latest version of the so-called "pre-strike" plan goes much deeper into the question of avoiding the huge economic losses suffered in this country every year by workers and management alike. It calls for a pre-strike vote only on the "final" offer by management.

This means that management would have to decide the maximum that it was willing to concede and to stand on it firmly, even if a strike did come. If the management of a company, as a result of a strike, gave better terms than it did in its so-called "final" offer, it would never again be regarded as sincere when it made a "final" offer, and there would always be a tendency to regard such an offer as merely a step in the bargaining process. Management's loss would then be obvious.

So far as the workers are concerned, if they rejected the "final" offer and a strike did materalize and they didn't come out any better in the end than they would have if they had accepted the offer made before the strike was called, there would be fewer strikes subsequently. For both the leaders and the workers would know the next time that a strike was not going to be beneficial.

The advantages to the union under a constructively developed pre-strike-vote plan would be much greater than under any present system of threatened strikes or protracted negotiation during strikes. For, if the employer made his maximum concession to his "final" offer, the workers by their vote would be taking full responsibility for accepting or rejecting it, and the officers would not be on the spot as they often are today when, in a complicated negotiation, they cannot always tell what move to make next. If the truth were told, many a union leader would confess that in some instances he misjudged management's firmness and that, if he had known before a strike was called all that he learned during a strike and after it was over, he might have compromised and accepted a "final" offer before the strike was declared.

There are rumblings throughout the industrial world, coming from workers and their families, that strikes are needlessly called. The workers themselves often feel that a management offer is good enough and that to go out on strike means an unnecessary loss of pay for the worker.

Certainly there is no logical reason why under a Democratic system the workers should not be permitted to vote on managements "final" offer. They and their families have a direct stake in the decision and too often it is made by a small group of negotiators who find themselves in a strait jacket where they cannot call off a strike without themselves being discredited for having started it.

One objection made is that any formula to let the workers vote before a strike is called means introducing the machinery of the federal government into the picture. An alternative suggestion to which President Eisenhower is strongly inclined, and one that is favored also by Senator Alexander Smith, Republican, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, is to keep the federal government out of it altogether and to specify by law that unions shall include in their constitutions a clause setting up a formula for a pre-strike vote. The law would provide that, unless a union had such a clause in its constitution, it would not be eligible to conduct collective-bargaining negotiations.

The procedure for the strike vote would be one to be worked out between management and labor in each case so as to insure a secret ballot. The National Labor Relations Board of the U. S. Mediation Service would come in to help adjust any question of procedure on which the two sides could not agree.

Certainly the new plan for a pre-strike vote on the 'final" offer of management might not in every case prevent a strike but, if it succeeded in preventing 85 per cent of the strikes, America would save billions of dollars every year. The largest part of this, of course, would be savings to the workers, who rarely ever gain enough out of the agreement finally consummated after a strike to make up for what they lose in their pay envelopes during a prolonged strike.

Labor-union leaders may find on further examination that a pre-strike vote on the 'final" offer of management gives them the biggest stimulus to successful negotiations they have ever had and still prevents immense economic losses to all concerned.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Feb. 15—A start must be made somewhere to pull the parasitic public employe off the bowed backs of the tax-producers. The case of Earl Warren, chief justice of the Supreme Court, is flagrant and dramatic enough to serve as a starter. The case of Vincent Impellitteri, recently mayor of New York and now a local judge in Brooklyn, is another challenge to the Faceless Man.

The chief justice, who recently saluted Jimmy Petrillo and the leering racket of the Musicians' Union, well knowing the predatory and anti-constitutional nature of the American Federation of Musicians, will be entitled to a pension of $16,000 a year from the state of California as of March 1. Some portion of this annuity will be a refund of the contributions which he paid into California's pension funds. This system is one of the most generous in the country but not more lavish than those available to those on the public pay rolls of the city and state of New York. But, by the California law, the people who pay the state's share of the pensions are forbidden to know how much any individual pensioner is getting or is entitled to under the several alternative plans.

Nobody in the state has any right to know how much the chief justice actually is entitled to, but some figures can be hit upon by deduction. If he should "retire" on his 63d birthday, March 1, he would qualify for $16,000 a year. That is more than $300 a week for the rest of his life, a figure that stands in emotional contrast to the paltry "social security" mirage of the tax-producing worker, which is well under $25 a week. On the other hand, if Warren waits until 1956 he will be entitled to $18,000, an automatic income far beyond the maximum earnings of all but a very few Americans. For that matter, $16,000 is beyond the sensible aspirations of most tax-producing workers.

It may be interposed that Warren surely must have "retired" already because he has left the service of the state and accepted the office of chief justice at $25,500 a year. But a veteran member of the state legislature, the chairman of one committee and a member of four, tells me that in checking the retirement systems available to employes and legislative and constitutional officers, he "ran into a rather interesting point."

"Somewhere in the fine print," he writes, "is a prohibition against making public any information as to who is a member of the retirement systems, dates of retirement, amounts of pensions, and so fourth. The head of the department, therefore, refuses to say whether Warren is a member of any of the systems. However, he is willing to say that Warren is not now (Feb. 3) drawing any benefits.

'It is pretty well known that he withdrew from the system provided for constitutional officers and joined the system for state employes in order that he might tack on his years in the district attorney's office in Alameda county (Oakland). In the years before Mr. Warren became governor, in January, 1943, the governor's salary was $10,000.

Later, a constitutional amendment authorized the legislature to fix a higher salary. In 1947, the legislature fixed the salary at $25,000. Pensions are of course based on salaries or wages.

The Los Angeles Examiner published a few months ago a news story dealing with reports that Warren had moved from the $10,000 bracket to the $16,000 bracket by switching from one system to another. The Examiner reported that the office of the state attorney general had ruled that all such data was absolutely confidential.

In New York, by means of a political deal between Impellitteri and Robert Wagner, the incoming mayor, a few weeks ago, Impellitteri was planted on a bench not for a career as a judge but only to kill time and incidentally perform the judicial chores but mainly so that he may qualify in three more years for a pension of $20,000 a year.

Old friends of Impellitteri, who had fought for his renomination and exposed themselves to political reprisals from his successful opponent, have been embittered by this. One intimate friend who had carried the target on the ramparts for him down to the very hour when he threw in the towel, said recently that he would never speak to Impellitteri again. Other old Democrats have scratched him and the increase in his pension which he thus assured (for he already was entitled to very comfortable retirement pay) has cost him much of something that money cannot buy. Impellitteri's career as a "public servant" was arranged so as to include a short, comfortable hitch as a bluejacket in the first war. Doubtless many other pensioners of the public payroll also are counting in their war service in the same way, whereas the millions who never draw a dime of public money aside from regular service pay have no way to collect such fat dividends on such service.

William D. Hassett, who was a "press secretary" to Roosevelt and Truman, working in the White House, and "never had it so good" in all his life, recently took a fall out of the late Mark Sullivan, a great journalist, with a sneering charge that Mr. Sullivan was a spokesman for those who regarded the county poorhouse as social security for the aged. I immediately challenged Hassett to adduce one single word to substantiate that nasty charge. While I was at it, I put it to him that when the city of Washington was crawling with newspapermen and jobs were plentiful, his choice was not journalism but the bureaucracy. I told him that I had noticed that members of the Roosevelt-Truman cult with all their milky sympathy for the poor old Common Man, were content to toss him the miserable dole of "social security" but, for themselves, almost invariably made sure that their old age was cushioned with big federal pensions largely at public expense. I invited him to tell me whether he was one of those, but after some weeks I have yet to hear from him.

Obviously, Chief Justice Warren is going to have to sit in some cases testing these de luxe doles at the expense of the Common Man. The strain on his impartiality will be severe.

The stipulation is made that such pampered pensioneers, who seem to think they deserve better than the poor workers who pay their pensions, in all cases pay "contributions." That is fragmentary and deceptive. Sure they do. And the security of their savings is a first lien on the assets and income of the state and federal government.

'They simply can't lose whereas the good old Common Man of their oratorical devotion must take chances on bank failures, insurance rackets and declining investments. But, more important, the pensioneers of the de luxe class are exempt from income taxes until they have received back, with compound interest, all the money they have paid in painlessly by deductions over the years. They are a parasitic class of special privilege and a national scandal.

HEART FUND DRIVE

The Heart Fund financial campaign, which is underway here, deserves the generous support of all residents of Ulster county. The bulk of the money collected here will be used locally to further the work of the Heart Association.

Anyone who does not shy away from medical statistics knows that from year to year heart disease tenaciously keeps its place as the nation's No. 1 killer. Roughly half of all deaths in the United States are attributable to diseases of the heart and circulation. The afflictions strike all ages.

Deaths from these causes total more than three times the deaths from dread cancer, more than seven times the deaths from accidents, more than 25 times the deaths from tuberculosis, once the great scourge.

In World War II 292,000 Americans lost their lives in four years, and we were appalled. In a single year, heart disease and related ailments kill some 771,000 people in this country.

Yet everything suggests that the ravages of this disease would be much worse were it not for the determined fight now being made against it by American medicine. According to Dr. Robert L. King, president of the American Heart Association, some very important advances have been made in recent years.

There are new drugs and surgical procedures which can often reduce blood pressure when it threatens serious injury to heart, kidneys or brain.

With the aid of penicillin promptly administered, rheumatic fever, a menace to the heart, can be prevented.

Drugs exist which inhibit the clotting of blood and thus minimize the chance of fatal complications following heart attacks.

Nowadays the surgeon slices into the heart with his scalpel almost as a routine matter, correcting defects present from birth, or repairing damage to valves that have been scarred and narrowed by rheumatic fever.

Moreover, great progress has been made in programs to enable heart sufferers to continue as useful, productive members of society. Many "heart cripples" are being rehabilitated and retrained.

But the research which produces these new findings, these weapons against our greatest killer, takes a lot of money. This is the time of year when, through the Heart Fund drive, an appeal is made to all of us to contribute to further advances in the widening fight against the disease.

It is no exaggeration to say that the measure of our individual generosity in this cause will be, in sum, the measure of future progress toward curing or alleviating heart disease.

REDS NEAR HOME

While we have been concerned with the menace of communism in Europe and Asia, communism has gained a foothold in the New World. There can no longer be any doubt that Guatemala is now in the camp of the Reds and will do anything it can to discredit and damage the United States prestige in Latin America.

The pro-Communist Guatemalan government has wasted little time in imitating the techniques of more experienced Communist regimes. It has accused the United States of conspiring with the Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Venezuela and Nicaragua to invade Guatemala. The evidence offered in support of these charges is plainly manufactured. Our government has termed the accusations "unworthy of answer."

Despite the efforts of the United States to establish harmonious relationships with Latin America, there have always been people there who have feared American influence. The Guatemalan charges are aimed at that group. It is once again the "big lie" technique so effectively used by Hitler and Stalin.

The incident is a warning of what to expect from Guatemala. Keeping a weather eye out for Peron of Argentina is also indicated.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

BIPARTISAN GOVERNMENT

Our system of government differs from that of most European countries in that it is based on a strictly two-party system—one in power, one in opposition.

In such a country as France, there are numerous small parties. When it is necessary to "form a government," a phrase not usable in this country where the President is elected, the prospective Premier negotiates among the various parties, allocating seats in his Cabinet, and when he is assured of enough votes in the National Assembly to produce a majority, he takes office. In the Communist countries, only one party exists and the government represents that party.

Efforts to produce a bipartisan government in the United States have failed in time of war as well as peace. The closest to it was the bipartisan coalition during the Truman Administration led by Senator Robert A. Taft and Senator Harry F. Byrd. This, however, never produced a union of parties; actually it represented a split in each party.

Prior to General Eisenhower's nomination, there was something of an idea that he might be nominated by both parties. Nothing came of that because it is unnatural in our political system. Instead, the Democratic Party came under the control of the A.D.A. group. The quarrels in the Democratic Convention and during the election campaign disappeared in the present session of Congress. The Democrats are not split between a pro-Eisenhower and anti-Eisenhower clique. The Democratic Party is united in its intent upon winning the 1954 Congressional Election.

The Republicans are split between those supporters of the President who feel, as he apparently does, that there is still a prospect of a bipartisan coalition in support of the President's legislative program and those who believe that if they hit hard, they may win enough seats in the 1954 campaign to have a working majority in the Congress.

The Lincoln Birthday week has developed into a campaigning operation among Republicans to win elections. The celebrations are now scattered over a week or so and the Republican National Committee provides distinguished speakers. This year, for instance, the largest number of requests were for the presence of Senator McCarthy.

At these meetings, held in every part of the country, the audience has no desire to listen to stuffed-shirt speeches. They want inspirational speeches to stir their souls and to give them the opportunity to cheer and shout. It is a wonderful occasion for Republican Party members, just as the Jackson Day dinners do the same for the Democrats. The speakers of both parties attack the other party. Why Sam Rayburn and Stuart Symington should suddenly become sensitive about this kind of speech-making is a little surprising, because they have done plenty of it themselves in the course of their careers.

The issue raised is that some Republicans called all Democrats traitors, which, of course, never happened. It must be assumed that what really got under their skins is that Sherman Adams, the President's Chief-of-Staff, used the phrase, "Fear Deal." Politically, it is a devastating phrase. It could win an election. Nobody has done better with words since Franklin D. Roosevelt died and Sam Rosenman and Robert Sherwood ceased to coin telling, fighting, annihilating phrases.

It is impossible to believe, however, that Sherman Adams did not consult his associates about this phrase, "Fear Deal." Speeches such as he delivered are generally gone over by the White House entourage, particularly the speech-writers. It is too good a phrase for Adams to have kept to himself.

It seems to me that our statesmen do not laugh enough. Stuart Symington, who will probably run for President against President Eisenhower, is a gay person, delightful to the eye and ear. It would be just too bad if the people ever came to believe that as Symington advances in influence and power, he grows stuffy. Even if the times are tough, this country would be better off if we were more gay and if serious-minded men took themselves less seriously. If the Democrats are not careful, they will get Harry Truman again because, at any rate, he can laugh.

Two Tickets to Georgia

Secretary and Mrs. Humphrey have been so busy in their new Washington life that they have been able to visit their Georgia estate only once in the last two years. That visit was supposed to be for a three-day weekend, but it was stretched to five days under unusual circumstances.

Mr. Humphrey, who was then the politically unknown head of the M. A. Hanna industries of Cleveland, likes to hunt, and this area abounds in quail, doves, wild turkey, deer, 'possum, racoon and fox. Mrs. Humphrey likes to hunt, too. On the third day of their visit, they were stretching their stay to the last possible minute in the field.

Just as the moment came when they knew they would have to leave for the long drive to the railroad, to make an evening train north, a big covey of quail was sighted. With his jaw set, Mr. Humphrey turned to Mrs. Humphrey and said, "We're going to miss that train. They stayed for two days more.

Not being able to get back to Georgia oftener himself, Secretary Humphrey figured out a smart move in inviting President Eisenhower to go down and hunt with him. When the boss goes along, any employe is justified in playing a little hooky himself.

Humphrey Is Dead Shot

The secretary is a Deadeye Dick shot. When President-elect Eisenhower, his designated Secretary of Defense C. E. Wilson, Mr. Humphrey and a select staff were returning to the U. S. on the cruiser Helena, after their pre-inauguration trip to Korea, there was some skeet shooting from the fantail. The Secretary of the Treasury-to-be outpointed all the others in the party. Shooting is said to be what gives him his good eye for figures.

While Mrs. Humphrey is a pretty good shot herself, her principal interest in Milestone is in the flowers. The 600-acre estate, and all the surrounding country for that matter, is at its best in the early spring. The dogwood is prolific under the pines, and the huge pink Cherokee roses, with single blossoms as big as two hands, grow wild and climb all over everything. Mrs. Humphrey says she never has to worry about her husband cutting out any of the dogwood undergrowth. It makes good cover for the game.

The Humphreys have owned Milestone for about 25 years. The main house is a one-story rambler, with five round, white columns in front to give it the southern air. This house is principally one large room which serves as living and dining room. There's a kitchen and cook's room at one end.

Near the main house are three cottages. Two of them will sleep eight people. The third is a kind of dormitory which is ordinarily used by the Humphrey grandchildren.

In addition to the main plantation of some 600 acres, which is largely hunting preserve with fields for the stable of ponies and mules and dog kennels, Secretary Humphrey has other farms in the area where he raises cotton, corn and peanuts.

Labor Leaders, Management Need to Study Approved Way of Cutting Down Strikes

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 16—A method of cutting down the number of strikes in America and at the same time increasing the value of collective bargaining has been approved by President Eisenhower as a desirable addition to federal law. But, unfortunately, labor-union leaders as well as some management groups have been rejecting the formula without studying the possibility of amending it to make it suitable to both sides.

There has been a great deal of misunderstanding, for instance, in recent weeks about a pre-strike vote to be taken among the workers. If the purpose of the vote were merely to find out whether the officers fully represent the union members in declaring a strike, there would be no value in the plan. For, on such occasions, the workers would always vote anyhow to uphold the hands of their negotiators.

But the latest version of the so-called "pre-strike" plan goes much deeper into the question of avoiding the huge economic losses suffered in this country every year by workers and management alike. It calls for a pre-strike vote only on the "final" offer by management.

This means that management would have to decide the maximum that it was willing to concede and to stand on it firmly, even if a strike did come. If the management of a company, as a result of a strike, gave better terms than it did in its so-called "final" offer, it would never again be regarded as sincere when it made a "final" offer, and there would always be a tendency to regard such an offer as merely a step in the bargaining process. Management's loss would then be obvious.

So far as the workers are concerned, if they rejected the "final" offer and a strike did materalize and they didn't come out any better in the end than they would have if they had accepted the offer made before the strike was called, there would be fewer strikes subsequently. For both the leaders and the workers would know the next time that a strike was not going to be beneficial.

The advantages to the union under a constructively developed pre-strike-vote plan would be much greater than under any present system of threatened strikes or protracted negotiation during strikes. For, if the employer made his maximum concession to his "final" offer, the workers by their vote would be taking full responsibility for accepting or rejecting it, and the officers would not be on the spot as they often are today when, in a complicated negotiation, they cannot always tell what move to make next. If the truth were told, many a union leader would confess that in some instances he misjudged management's firmness and that, if he had known before a strike was called all that he learned during a strike and after it was over, he might have compromised and accepted a "final" offer before the strike was declared.

There are rumblings throughout the industrial world, coming from workers and their families, that strikes are needlessly called. The workers themselves often feel that a management offer is good enough and that to go out on strike means an unnecessary loss of pay for the worker.

Certainly there is no logical reason why under a Democratic system the workers should not be permitted to vote on managements "final" offer. They and their families have a direct stake in the decision and too often it is made by a small group of negotiators who find themselves in a strait jacket where they cannot call off a strike without themselves being discredited for having started it.

One objection made is that any formula to let the workers vote before a strike is called means introducing the machinery of the federal government into the picture. An alternative suggestion to which President Eisenhower is strongly inclined, and one that is favored also by Senator Alexander Smith, Republican, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, is to keep the federal government out of it altogether and to specify by law that unions shall include in their constitutions a clause setting up a formula for a pre-strike vote. The law would provide that, unless a union had such a clause in its constitution, it would not be eligible to conduct collective-bargaining negotiations.

The procedure for the strike vote would be one to be worked out between management and labor in each case so as to insure a secret ballot. The National Labor Relations Board of the U. S. Mediation Service would come in to help adjust any question of procedure on which the two sides could not agree.

Certainly the new plan for a pre-strike vote on the "final" offer of management might not in every case prevent a strike but, if it succeeded in preventing 85 per cent of the strikes, America would save billions of dollars every year. The largest part of this, of course, would be savings to the workers, who rarely ever gain enough out of the agreement finally consummated after a strike to make up for what they lose in their pay envelopes during a prolonged strike.

Labor-union leaders may find on further examination that a pre-strike vote on the "final" offer of management gives them the biggest stimulus to successful negotiations they have ever had and still prevents immense economic losses to all concerned.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Feb. 15—A start must be made somewhere to pull the parasitic public employe off the bowed backs of the tax-producers. The case of Earl Warren, chief justice of the Supreme Court, is flagrant and dramatic enough to serve as a starter. The case of Vincent Impellitteri, recently mayor of New York and now a local judge in Brooklyn, is another challenge to the Faceless Man.

The chief justice, who recently saluted Jimmy Petrillo and the leering racket of the Musicians' Union, well knowing the predatory and anti-constitutional nature of the American Federation of Musicians, will be entitled to a pension of $16,000 a year from the state of California as of March 1. Some portion of this annuity will be a refund of the contributions which he paid into California's pension funds. This system is one of the most generous in the country but not more lavish than those available to those on the public pay rolls of the city and state of New York. But, by the California law, the people who pay the state's share of the pensions are forbidden to know how much any individual pensioner is getting or is entitled to under the several alternative plans.

Nobody in the state has any right to know how much the chief justice actually is entitled to, but some figures can be hit upon by deduction. If he should "retire" on his 63d birthday, March 1, he would qualify for $16,000 a year. That is more than $300 a week for the rest of his life, a figure that stands in emotional contrast to the paltry "social security" mirage of the tax-producing worker, which is well under $25 a week. On the other hand, if Warren waits until 1956 he will be entitled to $18,000, an automatic income far beyond the maximum earnings of all but a very few Americans. For that matter, $16,000 is beyond the sensible aspirations of most tax-producing workers.

It may be interposed that Warren surely must have "retired" already because he has left the service of the state and accepted the office of chief justice at $25,500 a year. But a veteran member of the state legislature, the chairman of one committee and a member of four, tells me that in checking the retirement systems available to employes and legislative and constitutional officers, he "ran into a rather interesting point."

"Somewhere in the fine print," he writes, "is a prohibition against making public any information as to who is a member of the retirement systems, dates of retirement, amounts of pensions, and so fourth. The head of the department, therefore, refuses to say whether Warren is a member of any of the systems. However, he is willing to say that Warren is not now (Feb. 3) drawing any benefits.

'It is pretty well known that he withdrew from the system provided for constitutional officers and joined the system for state employes in order that he might tack on his years in the district attorney's office in Alameda county (Oakland). In the years before Mr. Warren became governor, in January, 1943, the governor's salary was $10,000.

Later, a constitutional amendment authorized the legislature to fix a higher salary. In 1947, the legislature fixed the salary at $25,000. Pensions are of course based on salaries or wages.

The Los Angeles Examiner published a few months ago a news story dealing with reports that Warren had moved from the $10,000 bracket to the $16,000 bracket by switching from one system to another. The Examiner reported that the office of the state attorney general had ruled that all such data was absolutely confidential.

In New York, by means of a political deal between Impellitteri and Robert Wagner, the incoming mayor, a few weeks ago, Impellitteri was planted on a bench not for a career as a judge but only to kill time and incidentally perform the judicial chores but mainly so that he may qualify in three more years for a pension of $20,000 a year.

Old friends of Impellitteri, who had fought for his renomination and exposed themselves to political reprisals from his successful opponent, have been embittered by this. One intimate friend who had carried the target on the ramparts for him down to the very hour when he threw in the towel, said recently that he would never speak to Impellitteri again. Other old Democrats have scratched him and the increase in his pension which he thus assured (for he already was entitled to very comfortable retirement pay) has cost him much of something that money cannot buy. Impellitteri's career as a "public servant" was arranged so as to include a short, comfortable hitch as a bluejacket in the first war. Doubtless many other pensioners of the public payroll also are counting in their war service in the same way, whereas the millions who never draw a dime of public money aside from regular service pay have no way to collect such fat dividends on such service.

William D. Hassett, who was a "press secretary" to Roosevelt and Truman, working in the White House, and "never had it so good" in all his life, recently took a fall out of the late Mark Sullivan, a great journalist, with a sneering charge that Mr. Sullivan was a spokesman for those who regarded the county poorhouse as social security for the aged. I immediately challenged Hassett to adduce one single word to substantiate that nasty charge. While I was at it, I put it to him that when the city of Washington was crawling with newspapermen and jobs were plentiful, his choice was not journalism but the bureaucracy. I told him that I had noticed that members of the Roosevelt-Truman cult with all their milky sympathy for the poor old Common Man, were content to toss him the miserable dole of "social security" but, for themselves, almost invariably made sure that their old age was cushioned with big federal pensions largely at public expense. I invited him to tell me whether he was one of those, but after some weeks I have yet to hear from him.

Obviously, Chief Justice Warren is going to have to sit in some cases testing these de luxe doles at the expense of the Common Man. The strain on his impartiality will be severe.

The stipulation is made that such pampered pensioneers, who seem to think they deserve better than the poor workers who pay their pensions, in all cases pay "contributions." That is fragmentary and deceptive. Sure they do. And the security of their savings is a first lien on the assets and income of the state and federal government.

They simply can't lose whereas the good old Common Man of their oratorical devotion must take chances on bank failures, insurance rackets and declining investments. But, more important, the pensioneers of the de luxe class are exempt from income taxes until they have received back, with compound interest, all the money they have paid in painlessly by deductions over the years. They are a parasitic class of special privilege and a national scandal.

Two Men Injured In Local Accident

Two Brooklyn men were injured in a two-car collision at Main and Fair streets at 5:50 p. m. yesterday.

Officers John Crespino and Charles McCullough, who investigated, said Ignas Pechinski, 61, of 404 Wythe avenue, and Napoleon Paul, 68, of 28-07 42nd Road, were treated at Kingston Hospital for injuries and discharged last night.

The police report said the car of Carmen Massa, of 71 Merilina avenue, driven by Gene Massa, 18, was headed west on Fair street, and the other car, owned by Walter Ambrose, of 406 East Third street, Brooklyn, and driven by Pechinski was going north on Main street when they collided.

Both cars were badly damaged, the report said. Pechinski was treated for internal injuries and Paul for injuries to the back, ribs, neck and head.

Morris "Mace" Lewis, of 160 Green street notified police headquarters of the mishap and the Kingston Hospital ambulance was dispatched to the scene at once.

Police said that three hunting dogs that were in the Ambrose car were placed temporarily in the care of Dog Warden Henry Van Steenburg.

May Cut Milk Price

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—A reduction of possibly two cents a quart in fluid milk prices may follow in the wake of the government's decision to lower the level at which it supports prices of butter, cheese and dried milk. A number of dairy state congressmen, meanwhile, denounced the decision. Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said he would appeal to Congress to reverse an order by Secretary of Agriculture Benson, announced yesterday, which Benson estimated would reduce retail butter prices by about eight cents a pound. Others applauded Benson's move.

Won't Be Spinster

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Margaret Truman will celebrate her 30th birthday tomorrow—with a firm determination to get married. "I certainly do not intend to be a spinster," the blonde daughter of former President Harry S. Truman commented during the interview in her New York apartment. But just who the man might be, she doesn't know, or at least she isn't saying.

Boy Scout Council Honors Den Mother

Mrs. Bea Connelly, Den Mother of Pack 15 sponsored by the Reformed Church of the Comforter, received her Scouter's Training Award of Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, at Comforter Hall last night.

She was the first Den Mother of the council to be so honored.

Served Three Years

Mrs. Connelly started her Scouting three years ago when Pack 15 was first organized and has served in that capacity since then. To earn the training award she completed the Basic Cub Leader Training Course and then assisted in conducting it and has taken training for Den Mothers. She has participated in planning and carrying out successful Den and Pack activities and has served as a leader in five outdoor activities. She supervised her Den in furnishing and equipping their Den Meeting Place and has periodically met with the parents of boys in her Den. Scout Executive George V. Dennis made the presentation.

Awards Presented

Richard Gendreau, district advancement chairman, presented awards to the units of the district which qualified for them in the council-wide 1953 advancement contest. Ribbons were presented to Troop 2 of Connelly; Troop 6 of the First Baptist Church, Kingston; Troop 11 of St. James Methodist Church, Kingston; Troop 12 of the First Dutch Church, Kingston; Pack 3, of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Kingston; Pack 5, Jewish Community Center, Kingston; Pack 12 of the First Dutch Church, Kingston. Small Plaques were presented to Troop 8 of the First Presbyterian Church of Kingston and Troop 9 of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Kingston. The large plaque (highest award) was presented to Pack 15 of the Reformed Church of the Comforter.

Pack Leaders met with Dr. C. L. Angstrom, Cubmaster of Pack 13, sponsored by School 7 P-TA to discuss the March program theme, Cub Scouts in the Land of Oz. Richard Waltman, scoutmaster of Troop 11, sponsored by St. James Methodist Church met with troop leaders to discuss the March program theme and gave a report on the recent exploring training session held in Albany. Frank Bourke, district chairman, met with the district committee to discuss, plan and carry out the district program.

Awkerman Reports Area Enlistments

Tech. Sergeant Charles C. Awkerman, noncommissioned officer in charge of the local Marine Corps recruiting office, announced the recent enlistment of five men in the Marine Corps.

They are Silvan O. Serrano, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Serrano, 361 Wilbur avenue; Frank R. Jones, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Jones, 10 Hinsdale street; Joseph B. Dempsey, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Dempsey, 142 Wall street; William C. Boughton, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Boughton, East Kingston, and Harry J. White, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. White, East Kingston.

Immediately following enlistment these new Marines were assigned to Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C., for 10 weeks "boot" training. Following this training, they will be ordered to Marine Corps units operating on land, sea or in the air.

All the enlistees attended Kingston High School. Serrano is a former employee of Ferroxcube Corporation of America, Saugerties. Boughton is a former employee of Standard Furniture Company, Kingston, and Jones was employed by his father.

White's older brother, John, is serving with the Marine Corps at present in California. Boughton's older brother, Frank, is stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C., with the army.

Pauker Denies Barclay to Leave

A local official of Barclay Knitwear Company, Inc., 139 Cornell street, today denied rumors that the plant will move from Kingston.

Carl Pauker, in charge of the local factory, said this morning that he "had not heard" of any reports that the firm will move, and in answer to a question said that the company has no plans as far as he knows for leaving its Kingston plant. Michael Pauker, president of the company, resides in New York.

Budget Cut $5,541,400 Below Figure Asked for Mail, Treasury

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee made a barely perceptible scratch today in President Eisenhower's request for $3,338,783,000 to operate the Treasury and Post Office Departments for the fiscal year 1955.

It sent to the House floor for debate starting tomorrow a bill recommending for the two agencies $3,333,241,600 for the 12 months starting next July 1.

This is $5,541,400, or less than two-tenths of one per cent, below what the President requested. It is $50,491,150 less than the two agencies received for the present year.

The bill was the first handled by the committee on the basis of Eisenhower budget recommendations only. Last year's appropriation bills were based on original estimates by former President Truman and on revisions suggested by Eisenhower.

$17½ Billions

In addition to the $3,333,241,600 in new cash provided in the bill, the measure indirectly provides more than 17½ billion dollars for fixed charges and trust funds. The fixed charges, estimated at $10,191,602,145 for the new year, include $6,800,000,000 for interest on the national debt—an increase of 275 million over current year estimates—and $2,728,000,000 for tax refunds. The tax refund estimate is 342 million below current year estimates.

The trust funds, which don't come out of general revenues but are handled by the treasury, include $5,980,643,241 in Social Security payments under the old-Age and Survivors' Insurance program and $1,545,495,440 for unemployment compensation payments.

For the treasury's general operations the committee approved $577,855,600, a reduction of $927,400 from the Eisenhower request.

Postal Slash

For the post office, it recommended $2,755,386,000 a cut of $4,614,000 from the budget request.

Both departments were authorized to spend limited amounts to provide specialized training for selected personnel in a new campaign to promote efficiency.

The Internal Revenue Bureau received all but $88,000 of the $266,000,000 it requested, the new funds contemplating the employment of 650 additional revenue agents. The committee said the additional revenue to be obtained as a result will be "far in excess of the cost of the additional personnel."

The committee allotted the Post Office Department all but $4,614,000 of the $2,760,000,000 requested. The $2,755,386,000 recommended is $16,345,750 less than the agency was given for the present year.

The committee noted that the estimated postal deficit for the next fiscal year, based on anticipated operating revenues of $2,431,000,000, will be 329 million dillars. This is 108 million under the operating deficit contemplated for this year.

No funds were included for continuing the pneumatic tube service for handling mail in New York city. A contract for this operation was cancelled recently.

Plattekill

Plattekill, Feb. 16—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vega are the parents of a daughter born recently at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh. Mrs. Vega is the former Rita Lopez of Plattekill.

Red Letter Days in February was the theme of a program presented at the regular meeting of the Plattekill Grange Saturday evening. The benefit card party held recently in the hall under the sponsorship of the Methodist and Catholic Churches of the community was well attended and netted $50. Various types of parties have also been held at homes of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Merwin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Everett, Mr. and Mrs. George Sisti, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. H. Dawes and Mr. and Mrs. O. Orlowski. Members of various organizations have sold baked goods and made house-to-house canvasses in raising the $800 quota assigned to the Town of Plattekill.

Merton E. Jenkins, president of Newburgh Club 60, is co-chairman of a card party to be held Thursday evening, Feb. 25, at Knights of Columbus Hall in Newburgh. Refreshments will be served.

The annual election of officers of the Plattekill Home Bureau was held recently: Chairman, Mrs. George Sisti, Jr.; vice-chairman, Mrs. John Mahurter; secretary, Mrs. Harold Mills; treasurer, Mrs. Ralph Garcia; chairman of publicity, Mrs. Onufrey Orlowski. At a meeting held Tuesday evening at the Plattekill School, Mrs. Milton Van Duser was in charge of the family life project and Mrs. Lillian Harcourt of Modena spoke on Insurance and Other Savings.

The young son born January 27 at St. Luke's Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ettell has been named Wayne Edward. Mrs. Ettell is the former Marjory Tremper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Tremper of Plattekill.

Roland Carpenter, Edward Neuwirth, John Klein, Mrs. Arthur Fowler, Miss Susie Fosler and Mrs. Edmund F. Wager attended the meeting of the Republican Club of the Town of Plattekill, Inc., Thursday evening at Hasbrouck Hall in Modena.

Pvt. Richard Neuwirth, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Neuwirth of Wallkill, former residents, has left for Germany after a three-week leave from Fort Devens, Mass.

The February meeting of the Willing Workers of the Plattekill Methodist Church was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Upright.

The fourth quarterly conference will be held Friday evening, Feb. 19, at the Plattekill Methodist Church, preceded by a supper at 6:30.

The service and hospitality committee of Plattekill Grange 923 is planning a series of card parties, the first to be held Saturday evening, Feb. 20, at the grange hall. At a recent meeting of the committee the following officers were elected: Chairman, Mrs. George Martin; vice-chairman, Mrs. Fred Bernard; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Lillian Courter. Mrs. Richard Blass, Mrs. Elmore Lozier, Mrs. Conrad Silberling and Mrs. Charles Vassilakos are other members of the committee. The committee in charge of serving the baked ham supper, family style, at the grange hall Tuesday evening, preceding the dance, were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Evans, Mrs. Robert Zuelle, Sophie Zirger, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cronk, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kleeman, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Waite, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Longendyke, Susie and Elizabeth Fosler, Mrs. George Lare and Dorothy Olree.

The newly-organized Pistol Poppers Club of Plattekill will meet Friday, Feb. 19, at 8 p. m. at the firehouse for range practice. Club officers are president, John Edler; vice-president, Theodore Lasher; secretary, Martin DePew; treasurer, John Klein; range master, Russell Carpenter, Jr.

Oldest Hudson River Lighthouse to Be Closed

The Saugerties Lighthouse, built in 1869, the oldest on the Hudson river still in operation, will be closed this spring, it has been announced. Two Men Injured In Local Accident

Two Brooklyn men were injured in a two-car collision at Main and Fair streets at 5:50 p. m. yesterday.

Officers John Crespino and Charles McCullough, who investigated, said Ignas Pechinski, 61, of 404 Wythe avenue, and Napoleon Paul, 68, of 28-07 42nd Road, were treated at Kingston Hospital for injuries and discharged last night.

The police report said the car of Carmen Massa, of 71 Merilina avenue, driven by Gene Massa, 18, was headed west on Fair street, and the other car, owned by Walter Ambrose, of 406 East Third street, Brooklyn, and driven by Pechinski was going north on Main street when they collided.

Both cars were badly damaged, the report said. Pechinski was treated for internal injuries and Paul for injuries to the back, ribs, neck and head.

Morris "Mace" Lewis, of 160 Green street notified police headquarters of the mishap and the Kingston Hospital ambulance was dispatched to the scene at once.

Police said that three hunting dogs that were in the Ambrose car were placed temporarily in the care of Dog Warden Henry Van Steenburg.

May Cut Milk Price

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—A reduction of possibly two cents a quart in fluid milk prices may follow in the wake of the government's decision to lower the level at which it supports prices of butter, cheese and dried milk. A number of dairy state congressmen, meanwhile, denounced the decision. Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said he would appeal to Congress to reverse an order by Secretary of Agriculture Benson, announced yesterday, which Benson estimated would reduce retail butter prices by about eight cents a pound. Others applauded Benson's move.

Won't Be Spinster

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Margaret Truman will celebrate her 30th birthday tomorrow—with a firm determination to get married. "I certainly do not intend to be a spinster," the blonde daughter of former President Harry S. Truman commented during the interview in her New York apartment. But just who the man might be, she doesn't know, or at least she isn't saying.

Dog Is Stolen

Louis Sapone of Creek Locks reported to the sheriff's office at 12:15 p. m. Monday that a dark green sedan with New Jersey license plates stopped and picked up his four-year-old black and tan Doberman Pinscher and made off with him. Sapone got in his car and chased the other vehicle, but was unable to obtain its license number.

Most powerful man who ever lived, Emperor Maximinus, of Rome, was eight feet two inches tall.

Receives Scouter's Training Award

Mrs. Bea Connelly, Den Mother of Pack 15, receives the first Scouter's Training Award from Scout Executive George V. Dennis at Comforter Hall. (Freeman photo)

Boy Scout Council Honors Den Mother

Mrs. Bea Connelly, Den Mother of Pack 15 sponsored by the Reformed Church of the Comforter, received her Scouter's Training Award of Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, at Comforter Hall last night.

She was the first Den Mother of the council to be so honored.

Served Three Years

Mrs. Connelly started her Scouting three years ago when Pack 15 was first organized and has served in that capacity since then. To earn the training award she completed the Basic Cub Leader Training Course and then assisted in conducting it and has taken training for Den Mothers. She has participated in planning and carrying out successful Den and Pack activities and has served as a leader in five outdoor activities. She supervised her Den in furnishing and equipping their Den Meeting Place and has periodically met with the parents of boys in her Den. Scout Executive George V. Dennis made the presentation.

Awards Presented

Richard Gendreau, district advancement chairman, presented awards to the units of the district which qualified for them in the council-wide 1953 advancement contest. Ribbons were presented to Troop 2 of Connelly; Troop 6 of the First Baptist Church, Kingston; Troop 11 of St. James Methodist Church, Kingston; Troop 12 of the First Dutch Church, Kingston; Pack 3, of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Kingston; Pack 5, Jewish Community Center, Kingston; Pack 12 of the First Dutch Church, Kingston. Small Plaques were presented to Troop 8 of the First Presbyterian Church of Kingston and Troop 9 of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Kingston. The large plaque (highest award) was presented to Pack 15 of the Reformed Church of the Comforter.

Pack Leaders met with Dr. C. L. Angstrom, Cubmaster of Pack 13, sponsored by School 7 P-TA to discuss the March program theme, Cub Scouts in the Land of Oz. Richard Waltman, scoutmaster of Troop 11, sponsored by St. James Methodist Church met with troop leaders to discuss the March program theme and gave a report on the recent exploring training session held in Albany. Frank Bourke, district chairman, met with the district committee to discuss, plan and carry out the district program.

Awkerman Reports Area Enlistments

Tech. Sergeant Charles C. Awkerman, noncommissioned officer in charge of the local Marine Corps recruiting office, announced the recent enlistment of five men in the Marine Corps.

They are Silvan O. Serrano, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Serrano, 361 Wilbur avenue; Frank R. Jones, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Jones, 10 Hinsdale street; Joseph B. Dempsey, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Dempsey, 142 Wall street; William C. Boughton, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Boughton, East Kingston, and Harry J. White, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. White, East Kingston.

Immediately following enlistment these new Marines were assigned to Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C., for 10 weeks "boot" training. Following this training, they will be ordered to Marine Corps units operating on land, sea or in the air.

All the enlistees attended Kingston High School. Serrano is a former employee of Ferroxcube Corporation of America, Saugerties. Boughton is a former employee of Standard Furniture Company, Kingston, and Jones was employed by his father.

White's older brother, John, is serving with the Marine Corps at present in California. Boughton's older brother, Frank, is stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C., with the army.

Pauker Denies Barclay to Leave

A local official of Barclay Knitwear Company, Inc., 139 Cornell street, today denied rumors that the plant will move from Kingston.

Carl Pauker, in charge of the local factory, said this morning that he "had not heard" of any reports that the firm will move, and in answer to a question said that the company has no plans as far as he knows for leaving its Kingston plant. Michael Pauker, president of the company, resides in New York.

Budget Cut $5,541,400 Below Figure Asked for Mail, Treasury

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee made a barely perceptible scratch today in President Eisenhower's request for $3,338,783,000 to operate the Treasury and Post Office Departments for the fiscal year 1955.

It sent to the House floor for debate starting tomorrow a bill recommending for the two agencies $3,333,241,600 for the 12 months starting next July 1.

This is $5,541,400, or less than two-tenths of one per cent, below what the President requested. It is $50,491,150 less than the two agencies received for the present year.

The bill was the first handled by the committee on the basis of Eisenhower budget recommendations only. Last year's appropriation bills were based on original estimates by former President Truman and on revisions suggested by Eisenhower.

$17½ Billions

In addition to the $3,333,241,600 in new cash provided in the bill, the measure indirectly provides more than 17½ billion dollars for fixed charges and trust funds. The fixed charges, estimated at $10,-191,602,145 for the new year, include $6,800,000,000 for interest on the national debt—an increase of 275 million over current year estimates—and $2,728,000,000 for tax refunds. The tax refund estimate is 342 million below current year estimates.

The trust funds, which don't come out of general revenues but are handled by the treasury, include $5,980,643,241 in Social Security payments under the old-Age and Survivors' Insurance program and $1,545,495,440 for unemployment compensation payments.

For the treasury's general operations the committee approved $577,855,600, a reduction of $927,-400 from the Eisenhower request.

Postal Slash

For the post office, it recommended $2,755,386,000 a cut of $4,614,000 from the budget request.

Both departments were authorized to spend limited amounts to provide specialized training for selected personnel in a new campaign to promote efficiency.

The Internal Revenue Bureau received all but $88,000 of the $266,000,000 it requested, the new funds contemplating the employment of 650 additional revenue agents. The committee said the additional revenue to be obtained as a result will be "far in excess of the cost of the additional personnel."

The committee allotted the Post Office Department all but $4,614,-000 of the $2,760,000,000 requested. The $2,755,386,000 recommended is $16,345,750 less than the agency was given for the present year.

The committee noted that the estimated postal deficit for the next fiscal year, based on anticipated operating revenues of $2,-431,000,000, will be 329 million dollars. This is 108 million under the operating deficit contemplated for this year.

No funds were included for continuing the pneumatic tube service for handling mail in New York city. A contract for this operation was cancelled recently.

Plattekill

Plattekill, Feb. 16—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vega are the parents of a daughter born recently at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh. Mrs. Vega is the former Rita Lopez of Plattekill.

Red Letter Days in February was the theme of a program presented at the regular meeting of the Plattekill Grange Saturday evening. The benefit card party held recently in the hall under the sponsorship of the Methodist and Catholic Churches of the community was well attended and netted $50. Various types of parties have also been held at homes of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Merwin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Everett, Mr. and Mrs. George Sisti, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. H. Dawes and Mr. and Mrs. O. Orlowski. Members of various organizations have sold baked goods and made house-to-house canvasses in raising the $800 quota assigned to the Town of Plattekill.

Merton E. Jenkins, president of Newburgh Club 60, is co-chairman of a card party to be held Thursday evening, Feb. 25, at Knights of Columbus Hall in Newburgh. Refreshments will be served.

The annual election of officers of the Plattekill Home Bureau was held recently: Chairman, Mrs. George Sisti, Jr.; vice-chairman, Mrs. John Mahurter; secretary, Mrs. Harold Mills; treasurer, Mrs. Ralph Garcia; chairman of publicity, Mrs. Onufrey Orlowski. At a meeting held Tuesday evening at the Plattekill School, Mrs. Milton Van Duser was in charge of the family life project and Mrs. Lillian Harcourt of Modena spoke on Insurance and Other Savings.

The young son born January 27 at St. Luke's Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ettell has been named Wayne Edward. Mrs. Ettell is the former Marjory Tremper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Tremper of Plattekill.

Roland Carpenter, Edward Neuwirth, John Klein, Mrs. Arthur Fowler, Miss Susie Fosler and Mrs. Edmund F. Wager attended the meeting of the Republican Club of the Town of Plattekill, Inc., Thursday evening at Hasbrouck Hall in Modena.

Pvt. Richard Neuwirth, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Neuwirth of Wallkill, former residents, has left for Germany after a three-week leave from Fort Devens, Mass.

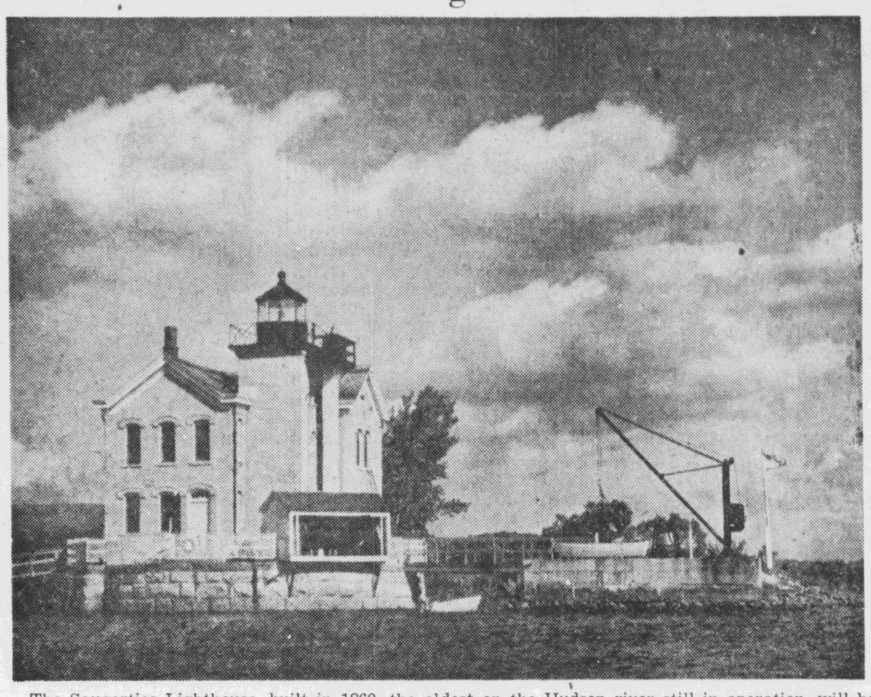

The February meeting of the Willing Workers of the Plattekill Methodist Church was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Upright.

The fourth quarterly conference will be held Friday evening, Feb. 19, at the Plattekill Methodist Church, preceded by a supper at 6:30.

The service and hospitality committee of Plattekill Grange 923 is planning a series of card parties, the first to be held Saturday evening, Feb. 20, at the grange hall. At a recent meeting of the committee the following officers were elected: Chairman, Mrs. George Martin; vice-chairman, Mrs. Fred Bernard; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Lillian Courter. Mrs. Richard Blass, Mrs. Elmore Lozier, Mrs. Conrad Silberling and Mrs. Charles Vassilakos are other members of the committee. The committee in charge of serving the baked ham supper, family style, at the grange hall Tuesday evening, preceding the dance, were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Evans, Mrs. Robert Zuelle, Sophie Zirger, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cronk, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kleeman, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Waite, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Longendyke, Susie and Elizabeth Fosler, Mrs. George Lare and Dorothy Olree.

The newly-organized Pistol Poppers Club of Plattekill will meet Friday, Feb. 19, at 8 p. m. at the firehouse for range practice. Club officers are president, John Edler; vice-president, Theodore Lasher; secretary, Martin DePew; treasurer, John Klein; range master, Russell Carpenter, Jr.

Oldest Hudson River Lighthouse to Be Closed

The Saugerties Lighthouse, built in 1869, the oldest on the Hudson river still in operation, will be closed this spring, it has been announced. Edward Pastorini, keeper, has been notified that an automatic beacon will take its place at the mouth of the Esopus creek. The photograph shown here was made by Richard P. Smith and used on the P. C. C. R. Entrott Dies From Heart Spell At Wheel of Auto

Charles R. Entrott, of 160 East Chester street, was pronounced dead on arrivel at Kingston Hospital late yesterday afternoon after he was found slumped over the steering wheel of a car on Washington avenue.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle was notified and determined that Entrott had been under a doctor's care for a heart ailment.

Police headquarters was notified at 5:05 p. m., and received a second call in which someone reported a man slumped over the steering wheel of a car in front of 267 Washington avenue. Officers John Crespino and Charles McCullough were dispatched there and the Kingston Hospital ambulance was called. It was reported that Entrott, a carpenter, was returning from work.

Active in Union

Born in High Falls, he was the son of the late James and Elizabeth Brink Entrott. He lived in Kingston most of his life and was known as an expert carpenter. He was active in union affairs and was vice-president of Carpenters Local 1175, the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters and an officer of the Kingston Metal Trades Federal Credit Union. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Kingston.

Surviving are his wife, the former Anna Zink, a daughter, Mrs. Aloysius Rein, and a son, Milton Entrott, all of Kingston, three grandchildren, one great-grandchild, and two step-sons, Verner and Charles Shock, both of Woodside.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Jenson & Deegan Funeral Home where the Rev. Donald E. Brown, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Mountain View Cemetery, Saugerties. Friends may call at the funeral home at any time.

Schwable Hearing Begins

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—The marine corps today began a public hearing on the case of Col. Frank W. Schwable who, while a prisoner of the Communists in Korea, signed a false confession to having taken part in germ warfare. The purpose of the court of inquiry is simply to develop the facts and make a report. On the basis of the report, the marine corps will decide whether Schwable should be tried by a court martial on any formal charge such as, for instance, giving aid to the enemy. The Communists made propaganda use of the confession.

Gov. Dewey Ill

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—Gov. Dewey is confined to the executive mansion with a heavy cold. He caught it over the weekend, and yesterday his doctor ordered him to stay home. The physician checked again today and advised the governor not to return to his office until tomorrow.

Convent Campaign Is Short of Goal

Operation Valentine to raise funds for the repair of Angel House, a dormitory at the Convent of St. Ann, 287 Broadway, has resulted in donations totaling $675, it was announced today by Mrs. Raymond Wells, chairman.

Mrs. Wells pointed out that the drive had fallen far short of the $3,000 goal set by the drive committee.

She expressed the gratitude of her committee and the convent to those who donated to the drive, pointing out that those who wished to contribute could still do so by mailing their donation directly to the Convent of St. Ann.

The drive was undertaken to secure funds with which to supplement insurance money in the repair of the dormitory damaged by a fire on the night of December 17.

Approximately $3,000 more than the amount of the insurance is needed to complete repairs, it was explained.

Sheriff Holds Goods

Greenwich, Conn., Feb. 16 (AP)—Dick Haymes and his actress-wife Rita Hayworth moved out of their 14-room home here yesterday but sheriffs kept watch on certain of the couple's belongings. Movers took out clothing, some furniture and phonograph records but six barrels and two cartons of other assorted belongings and a television set were held by the sheriffs. It later was put under lock and key by Deputy Sheriff Patrick J. Moruke who said it was material being attached by Haymes' landlord, Joseph Kraeler, who last Friday instituted a suit for back payment of rent and payment of damage he claims was done to the home during the Haymes occupation.

April 15 Deadline

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee agreed today to make April 15 the annual deadline for filing individual tax returns, effective next year. The committee said in a statement that this change "will greatly relieve the difficulties taxpayers presently have in preparing their returns by the present filing date" of March 10. As a practical matter, the later date will be helpful to tax accountants and lawyers who now find their major business crowded into the period from Jan. 1 to March 15.

More Red Opposition

Berlin, Feb. 16 (AP)—East Germany's Communist trade unions disclosed today a new purge has swept seven top leaders into disgrace. The action—the second in eight months—indicated continued opposition among the membership to Red rule.

Asks Phone Increase

Albany, Feb. 16 (AP)—An attorney representing three upstate telephone unions today urged the Public Service Commission to grant a 10 per cent rate increase to the New York Telephone Co. Edward Conway of Albany said the company's bid for a $68,850,000-a-year boost should be approved and contain "an increment for wages and hospital and surgical benefits." The three independent unions claim a total membership of approximately 9,200.

Village Green Discussed At Town Board Meeting

Woodstock, Feb. 16—The question of the village green was discussed at the town board meeting Friday night. Joseph Fitzsimmons, town supervisor, will be in communication with the Rev. Harvey I. Todd and the consistory of the Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church for the possible transfer of the property to the town.

Further plans were discussed for the partitioning of offices of the supervisor and town clerk at the town hall and it was moved that plans be completed for such a project and installation will be made.

Legion to Sponsor Civil Defense Talk

Woodstock, Feb. 16—American Legion Post 1026 will hold a civil defense meeting February 25, at 8 p. m. to which the township is invited. The speaker will be Major William M. Plowden, commander of the Air Filter Center at White Plains. The meeting will be held at the Legion Hall.

Commander Wayne Underhill of the Post has urged everyone to attend this highly important meeting and to support the Legion in its effort to assist with the re-establishment of the Ground Observer Corps. Underhill said that the aim is to put this observation post on a seven day, twenty-four hour basis.

Underhill hopes that the Woodstock village proper will man the post for two days a week, while Zena, Shady, Bearsville, Wittenberg and Lake Hill to accept four days a week duty.

Cowell Composition Is Featured by Symphony

Woodstock, Feb. 16 — Henry Cowell, noted composer of Shady had one of his works featured by the Boston Symphony, last Saturday afternoon. According to a review in the New York Herald Tribune, Sunday, by Virgil Tomson, Henry Cowell's "Hymn and Fuguing Tune No. 3, though it lasted a bare six minutes, was a delight for fresh melodic sustenance and for joyful syncopation, like many of the old American tunes cast in that form. It is neither a pretentious work nor an unduly modest one. It is direct, heartfelt, skillfully harmonized and counterpointed; and its orchestral sound, ever songful, quite glows at the end."

Financial and Commercial

By RADER WINGET

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Stock Market slipped lower today despite some areas of resistance to the fall.

The retreat went to around 2 points at the outside while gains seldom got to as much as a point.

New York Central, the big star yesterday, staged a delayed opening again with a reverse twist.

Yesterday the floor of the exchange was deluged with buying orders, and it took governors two hours and 20 minutes to scare up enough sellers to make an opening block of 65,000 shares at 26. The stock closed up ⅛ at 25¼.

Today there was a delay of around 40 minutes as selling orders hit the floor and governors had a hard time finding buyers until the price was cut back 1¼ at 24 on two blocks of 30,000 and 15,000 shares. The stock improved from its low within a short time but sank back again under additional offerings.

BUILD A NEST EGG WITH A
Monthly Investment Plan

Perhaps you've always thought you had to have "big money" to invest in stocks. But now, for as little as $25 (or less) each month, you can own an interest in over 50 companies. In such a supervised investment program, your shares increase with each payment. (And there's no penalty if you miss a payment). Dividends are paid in cash — or reinvested if you wish. It's a thrifty and convenient way to build a "nest egg" for your retirement or for your child's education.

C. R. Entrott Dies From Heart Spell At Wheel of Auto

Charles R. Entrott, of 160 East Chester street, was pronounced dead on arrivel at Kingston Hospital late yesterday afternoon after he was found slumped over the steering wheel of a car on Washington avenue.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle was notified and determined that Entrott had been under a doctor's care for a heart ailment.

Police headquarters was notified at 5:05 p. m., and received a second call in which someone reported a man slumped over the steering wheel of a car in front of 267 Washington avenue. Officers John Crespino and Charles McCullough were dispatched there and the Kingston Hospital ambulance was called. It was reported that Entrott, a carpenter, was returning from work.

Active in Union

Born in High Falls, he was the son of the late James and Elizabeth Brink Entrott. He lived in Kingston most of his life and was known as an expert carpenter. He was active in union affairs and was vice-president of Carpenters Local 1175, the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters and an officer of the Kingston Metal Trades Federal Credit Union. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Kingston.

Surviving are his wife, the former Anna Zink, a daughter, Mrs. Aloysius Rein, and a son, Milton Entrott, all of Kingston, three grandchildren, one great-grandchild, and two step-sons, Verner and Charles Shock, both of Woodside.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Jenson & Deegan Funeral Home where the Rev. Donald E. Brown, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Mountain View Cemetery, Saugerties. Friends may call at the funeral home at any time.

Schwable Hearing Begins

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—The marine corps today began a public hearing on the case of Col. Frank W. Schwable who, while a prisoner of the Communists in Korea, signed a false confession to having taken part in germ warfare. The purpose of the court of inquiry is simply to develop the facts and make a report. On the basis of the report, the marine corps will decide whether Schwable should be tried by a court martial on any formal charge such as, for instance, giving aid to the enemy. The Communists made propaganda use of the confession.

Gov. Dewey Ill

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—Gov. Dewey is confined to the executive mansion with a heavy cold. He caught it over the weekend, and yesterday his doctor ordered him to stay home. The physician checked again today and advised the governor not to return to his office until tomorrow.

Convent Campaign Is Short of Goal

Operation Valentine to raise funds for the repair of Angel House, a dormitory at the Convent of St. Ann, 287 Broadway, has resulted in donations totaling $675, it was announced today by Mrs. Raymond Wells, chairman.

Mrs. Wells pointed out that the drive had fallen far short of the $3,000 goal set by the drive committee.

She expressed the gratitude of her committee and the convent to those who donated to the drive, pointing out that those who wished to contribute could still do so by mailing their donation directly to the Convent of St. Ann.

The drive was undertaken to secure funds with which to supplement insurance money in the repair of the dormitory damaged by a fire on the night of December 17.

Approximately $3,000 more than the amount of the insurance is needed to complete repairs, it was explained.

Sheriff Holds Goods

Greenwich, Conn., Feb. 16 (AP)—Dick Haymes and his actress-wife Rita Hayworth moved out of their 14-room home here yesterday but sheriffs kept watch on certain of the couple's belongings. Movers took out clothing, some furniture and phonograph records but six barrels and two cartons of other assorted belongings and a television set were held by the sheriffs. It later was put under lock and key by Deputy Sheriff Patrick J. Moruke who said it was material being attached by Haymes' landlord, Joseph Kraeler, who last Friday instituted a suit for back payment of rent and payment of damage he claims was done to the home during the Haymes occupation.

April 15 Deadline

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee agreed today to make April 15 the annual deadline for filing individual tax returns, effective next year. The committee said in a statement that this change "will greatly relieve the difficulties taxpayers presently have in preparing their returns by the present filing date" of March 10. As a practical matter, the later date will be helpful to tax accountants and lawyers who now find their major business crowded into the period from Jan. 1 to March 15.

Asks Phone Increase

Albany, Feb. 16 (AP)—An attorney representing three upstate telephone unions today urged the Public Service Commission to grant a 10 per cent rate increase to the New York Telephone Co. Edward Conway of Albany said the company's bid for a $68,850,000-a-year boost should be approved and contain "an increment for wages and hospital and surgical benefits." The three independent unions claim a total membership of approximately 9,200.

Village Green Discussed At Town Board Meeting

Woodstock, Feb. 16—The question of the village green was discussed at the town board meeting Friday night. Joseph Fitzsimmons, town supervisor, will be in communication with the Rev. Harvey I. Todd and the consistory of the Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church for the possible transfer of the property to the town.

Further plans were discussed for the partitioning of offices of the supervisor and town clerk at the town hall and it was moved that plans be completed for such a project and installation will be made.

Legion to Sponsor Civil Defense Talk

Woodstock, Feb. 16—American Legion Post 1026 will hold a civil defense meeting February 25, at 8 p. m. to which the township is invited. The speaker will be Major William M. Plowden, commander of the Air Filter Center at White Plains. The meeting will be held at the Legion Hall.

Commander Wayne Underhill of the Post has urged everyone to attend this highly important meeting and to support the Legion in its effort to assist with the re-establishment of the Ground Observer Corps. Underhill said that the aim is to put this observation post on a seven day, twenty-four hour basis.

Underhill hopes that the Woodstock village proper will man the post for two days a week, while Zena, Shady, Bearsville, Wittenberg and Lake Hill to accept four days a week duty.

Cowell Composition Is Featured by Symphony

Woodstock, Feb. 16 — Henry Cowell, noted composer of Shady had one of his works featured by the Boston Symphony, last Saturday afternoon. According to a review in the New York Herald Tribune, Sunday, by Virgil Tomson, Henry Cowell's "Hymn and Fuguing Tune No. 3, though it lasted a bare six minutes, was a delight for fresh melodic sustenance and for joyful syncopation, like many of the old American tunes cast in that form. It is neither a pretentious work nor an unduly modest one. It is direct, heartfelt, skillfully harmonized and counterpointed; and its orchestral sound, ever songful, quite glows at the end."

Financial and Commercial

By RADER WINGET

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Stock Market slipped lower today despite some areas of resistance to the fall.

The retreat went to around 2 points at the outside while gains seldom got to as much as a point.

New York Central, the big star yesterday, staged a delayed opening again with a reverse twist.

Yesterday the floor of the exchange was deluged with buying orders, and it took governors two hours and 20 minutes to scare up enough sellers to make an opening block of 65,000 shares at 26. The stock closed up ⅛ at 25¼.

Today there was a delay of around 40 minutes as selling orders hit the floor and governors had a hard time finding buyers until the price was cut back 1¼ at 24 on two blocks of 30,000 and 15,000 shares. The stock improved from its low within a short time but sank back again under additional offerings.

It's Sinbad's Birthday

No, Sinbad — that's the gorilla — isn't mad at anyone. He's just gagging it up, Feb. 15, on the shoulders of keeper Ray Hoff because the day is Sinbad's sixth birthday, which explains the cake in Hoff's hand. Sinbad has taken over the Number One popularity spot at Lincoln Park Zoo, Chicago, where he succeeded the famed Bushman. (AP Wirephoto).

BUILD A NEST EGG WITH A Monthly Investment Plan

Perhaps you've always thought you had to have "big money" to invest in stocks. But now, for as little as $25 (or less) each month, you can own an interest in over 50 companies. In such a supervised investment program, your shares increase with each payment. (And there's no penalty if you miss a payment). Dividends are paid in cash — or reinvested if you wish. It's a thrifty and convenient way to build a "nest egg" for your retirement or for your child's education.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I have before me a local newspaper over 90 years old, The Rondout Freeman of Wednesday, Dec. 3, 1862. It was printed in Rondout by J. H. Gildersleeve. The front page carries advertisments on the left side and on the right side a story called Trials of a Bashful Man and another called Running an Engine in the Revel Service. One of the advertisements plainly states: "Make your own beer. Buy the best, use only the compound, extract of hops! It maks a most delicious and healthy beverage, containing all the properties of the hop extracted by a Chemical process. We do not claim for it, any particular medicinal quality, but as it is composed of hops, wild cherry, ginger, etc., it cannot be otherwise than healthy. Price 25 cents per bottle, or five bottles for $1. Van Duesen Bros. local agents."

In those days, a Dr. V. Sherwood advertised with a great flourish and pictures that he was a surgeon and mechanical dentist. His rooms were over Van Deusen Bros. Drug Store in Rondout. He plainly said: "Charges so modified that every individual who can command a dollar can get a tooth." He gave as references such men as: Major G. F. von Beck; Jansen HasBrouck, Esq., President of the Rondout Bank; Richard Elting, MD and others of equal importance who no doubt were his patients and were satisfied with his work of dental art.

Another advertisement said: "Something New! A valuable discovery. A kerosene chimney that does not break. Call and examine them. To be had only at Van Deusen Brothers, Rondout and Kingston."

Another advertisement said: "For sale cheap. The hull of the steamer Rhine. By a small outlay it can be converted into an excellent barge of 180 tons carrying capacity. For particulars enquire of the owner, Morgan Everson, at Sleightsburgh, Ulster county." Merritt & Crosby were advertising "2,000 pounds of the best feathers ever offered in Ulster county at low prices as ever offered before. Just purchased." M. Weil's had "Best live geese feathers at 50 cents a pound." Rondout was well advanced in printing 90 some years ago, for The Freeman office advertised in its job printing that they did, billheads, handbills, ball tickets, business and wedding cards, by-laws, receipts, law cases and programmes. They also did bronzed work and job printing in colors.

If folks of today think that a 100 years ago or so folks in Kingston and Rondout were lacking in provisions or stores which carried most everything needed, they are mistaken. Take for instance Merritt and Crosby, who advertised that they had received their complete new fall and winter goods consisting of such items as follows: Cloths, dress goods, cloakings, gloves, hosiery, shawls, cassimeres, flannels, domestic goods, carpet warp, batts, shirts, under garments of all kinds, carpets, oil clothes, feathers, mattresses, rag carpets and many other items. The People's Store, corner Hasbrouck avenue and Garden street, supplied Kingstonians with smoked meats, beans, butter, cheese, lard, wood and willow ware, fine groceries, foreign and domestic fruits, flour, hay, oats, meal, feed, pork, fish and salt, and many other items. This was a shopping center for Ulster county from way back as you can well see.

The Chinese believe curved lines ward off evil spirits and are partial to them in their architecture.

Fire Causes $25,000 Damage in Kyserike

Damage estimated at $25,000 was caused in a fire which destroyed the farm home of Eugene Gorton in Kyserike shortly before noon last Friday. Regarded as an Ulster county landmark, the stone house was built around 1770, and according to some unofficial reports, the historic building was used as a tavern in Colonial times. The fire, which apparently started in or near the kitchen at the rear of the house, burned up through the roof and destroyed the interior, leaving only the thick stone walls standing, the report said. Firemen from Accord, Kripplebush and Stone Ridge companies fought the blaze. (Freeman photo)

Refrigeration Talk Slated Wednesday

FRED HERMANN

Fred Hermann, refrigeration application engineer with Tenny Engineering, Newark, N. J., will be the special speaker for the Mid-Hudson Sub-Section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers Wednesday at the Central Hudson Auditorium, South Road, Poughkeepsie, at 7:30 p. m.

Hermann will talk on Low Temperature Refrigeration.

He has had a broad experience in low temperature refrigeration and will describe refrigeration applications. High altitude test chambers, low temperature "heat-treating" of metals and other uses will be discussed. He also will describe the relative merits of different refrigeration systems.

The meeting of the Mid-Hudson group is open to all interested area engineers.

College-Bound Cookies

When you are sending cookies to your boy or girl at college, choose the bar type of cookie, or the big soft drop variety. These two kinds are good travelers if you wrap them individually and cushion your layers with plenty of plastic straw. Be sure to choose a sturdy cardboard box in which to pack the cookies.

Freligh Celebrates His 91st Birthday

Saugerties, Feb. 15 — Russell Freligh, a resident of Saugerties since 1876, celebrated his 91st birthday on Friday. The occasion is not usually observed as quietly as it was this year. Mr. Freligh's health the past few months has left him with little energy to carry out his usual open-house celebration. However, a few friends did call and he received many greetings by mail.

When Mr. Freligh, a native of Coxsackie, became a resident of Saugerties he worked with Reed and Reed in 1897 and served in the store for 42 years until his retirement in 1939.

He has membership in the Ulster Lodge, F. & A. M., William B. Raymond Lodge, IOOF, and the Dutch Reformed Church. He was also active in the Saugerties Glee Club.

Auxiliary to Meet

Saugerties, Feb. 15 — Cementon Auxiliary 1 of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of West Camp has scheduled a meeting for Thursday, Feb. 18, at 12:30 p. m. A covered dish luncheon will be served prior to the meeting. In charge of arrangements will be Mrs. Millie Overbagh and Mrs. Jennie Musier. Work on a quilt will be the project.

Jump to No-Trump Was Clever Play

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Perhaps you're not fond of South's jump to two no-trump in today's hand. Such a bid should show at least one sure stopper in the unbid suit, and South's four hearts headed by the ten-nine hardly constituted a sure stopper.

Nevertheless South's bid of two no-trump was the best available bid. If North had a singleton heart he would probably rebid some suit, and if North had two or more hearts, the suit was unlikely to be dangerous.

When West opened the six of hearts, South had to decide for or against holding up the ace of hearts. The "normal" play of the experienced declarer at no-trump is to hold up an ace of an otherwise unstopped suit. In this case, however, South very properly put up dummy's ace of hearts at once.

It was reasonable to suppose that West had only one or two of the missing high hearts. (If West had all three he would have opened the king rather than a small card.) If the hearts were divided four-three, the suit was no threat, since the opponents could take only three hearts and the ace of clubs. It the suit were 5-2, however, it was vital to take the ace at once in order to block the suit.

When South knocked out the ace of clubs at the second trick, West had no way of defeating the contract. If West led a low heart, East would win with the queen but would then be unable to continue the suit.

If West instead laid down the king of hearts, he would drop his partner's queen and be able to take the jack of hearts, but then South would have a second stopper in the suit. Either way, South would be sure to make nine tricks.

South would have lost his game contract if he had played a low heart from the dummy at the first trick. East would have won with the queen of hearts and returned the suit, forcing out dummy's ace. This would enable West to defeat the contract later on with the ace of clubs and the rest of the hearts.

RETURNING 'GOING-AWAY' PRESENTS

A reader asks my help in an embarrassing situation: "My husband was recently transferred to another part of the country, and we made all preparations to move. The transfer received a front page notice in the local newspaper. My husband went on ahead in order to find a house for us to live in. After a month he found that the climate did not agree with him and he is going to return to his former position and so we will not be moving. Now my problem is, what to do with the going-away presents I have received from many of our friends. My daughter also received a going-away present from her scout troop. I am really terribly upset over this and would appreciate your help."

Send each one back very carefully wrapped and with a brief note of explanation and regret at being disqualified from keeping the present. (If any of the senders return their gifts to you, you write appreciative thank-you notes and keep these particular items.

Introduction Question

Dear Mrs. Post: When friends of ours bring friends of theirs whom we met on only one occasion some years ago, and haven't seen since, to our house, is it their place, or ours, to introduce their friends to other people whom our friends know as well as we do?

Answer: The visitor who has brought in friends of his own with him should introduce them to those whom he knows. The reason for this is that nothing could be more awkward for a hostess than not to know the name of any one in her own house.

Girls Alone

Dear Mrs. Post: My girl friend and I are planning a weekend trip to New York in the near future. While there we would like to go to one of the well-known clubs. Would it be proper to go without any men companions?

Answer: It would not only be incorrect, but without escorts you would not be admitted to any high class night club.

Here's a Good Dessert Idea For Washington's Birthday

FOR GEORGE WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY, serve gleaming Drum Cake and cherry-vanilla ice cream sundae.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

A large white "drum cake" with chocolate cords on the side and two peppermint sticks (drum sticks) on top, plus star-studded dishes of cherry-vanilla ice cream with marshmallow sauce on top — well, there you have it for George Washington's birthday, February 22.

The drum cake idea comes from my California-born mother who was always planning parties for her children.

To make the drum cake look more like a drum, she used a variation of an old baker's trick —adding a false bottom to make the confection look more magnificent. By putting it on the inverted cake pan and frosting the whole thing, she made a two-layer cake look miles high. She made her own white cake, but today many mothers use prepared cake mixes successfully.

Drum Cake

Prepare two 8-inch cake layers according to favorite cake recipe. Put cake on top of inverted cake pan. Frost pan and cake with 7-minute or decorative frosting. (The cake pan gives better proportion to "drum"). Add food coloring to remaining frosting and force through cake decorator to resemble cords on side of drum. Use two peppermint sticks for drumsticks.

For the ice cream, you can use pre-packaged pints and half-gallons. Cherry-vanilla is a February special in the markets and it fits ideally into the George Washington's birthday theme. Here's the sauce recipe. Top with bright red maraschino cherry with stem.

Marshmallow Sauce
(Yield: 2 cups)

One-half cup light corn syrup, ½ cup sugar, ¼ cup water, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 egg white, ¼ teaspoon almond flavoring.

Combine light corn syrup, sugar and water in saucepan. Cook over low heat stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved. Cook over medium heat until candy thermometer registers 234 degrees F. or until a small amount of the mixture, when dropped in cold water, forms a soft ball. Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff, but not dry. Slowly pour in sugar syrup beating constantly until thick and glossy. Store in refrigerator. If sauce becomes too thick, add small amount warm water.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Chicken fricassee, steamed rice, baking powder biscuits, buttered broccoli, celery and raw carrot sticks, ice cream with sauce, drum cake, tea, coffee, milk.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I have before me a local newspaper over 90 years old, The Rondout Freeman of Wednesday, Dec. 3, 1862. It was printed in Rondout by J. H. Gildersleeve. The front page carries advertisments on the left side and on the right side a story called Trials of a Bashful Man and another called Running an Engine in the Revel Service. One of the advertisements plainly states: "Make your own beer. Buy the best, use only the compound, extract of hops! It maks a most delicious and healthy beverage, containing all the properties of the hop extracted by a Chemical process. We do not claim for it, any particular medicinal quality, but as it is composed of hops, wild cherry, ginger, etc., it cannot be otherwise than healthy. Price 25 cents per bottle, or five bottles for $1. Van Duesen Bros. local agents."

In those days, a Dr. V. Sherwood advertised with a great flourish and pictures that he was a surgeon and mechanical dentist. His rooms were over Van Deusen Bros. Drug Store in Rondout. He plainly said: "Charges so modified that every individual who can command a dollar can get a tooth." He gave as references such men as: Major G. F. von Beck; Jansen HasBrouck, Esq., President of the Rondout Bank; Richard Elting, MD and others of equal importance who no doubt were his patients and were satisfied with his work of dental art.

Another advertisement said: "Something New! A valuable discovery. A kerosene chimney that does not break. Call and examine them. To be had only at Van Deusen Brothers, Rondout and Kingston."

Another advertisement said: "For sale cheap. The hull of the steamer Rhine. By a small outlay it can be converted into an excellent barge of 180 tons carrying capacity. For particulars enquire of the owner, Morgan Everson, at Sleightsburgh, Ulster county." Merritt & Crosby were advertising "2,000 pounds of the best feathers ever offered in Ulster county at low prices as ever offered before. Just purchased." M. Weil's had "Best live geese feathers at 50 cents a pound." Rondout was well advanced in printing 90 some years ago, for The Freeman office advertised in its job printing that they did, billheads, handbills, ball tickets, business and wedding cards, by-laws, receipts, law cases and programmes. They also did bronzed work and job printing in colors.

If folks of today think that a 100 years ago or so folks in Kingston and Rondout were lacking in provisions or stores which carried most everything needed, they are mistaken. Take for instance Merritt and Crosby, who advertised that they had received their complete new fall and winter goods consisting of such items as follows: Cloths, dress goods, cloakings, gloves, hosiery, shawls, cassimeres, flannels, domestic goods, carpet warp, batts, shirts, under garments of all kinds, carpets, oil clothes, feathers, mattresses, rag carpets and many other items. The People's Store, corner Hasbrouck avenue and Garden street, supplied Kingstonians with smoked meats, beans, butter, cheese, lard, wood and willow ware, fine groceries, foreign and domestic fruits, flour, hay, oats, meal, feed, pork, fish and salt, and many other items. This was a shopping center for Ulster county from way back as you can well see.

The Chinese believe curved lines ward off evil spirits and are partial to them in their architecture.

Fire Causes $25,000 Damage in Kyserike

Damage estimated at $25,000 was caused in a fire which destroyed the farm home of Eugene Gorton in Kyserike shortly before noon last Friday. Regarded as an Ulster county landmark, the stone house was built around 1770, and according to some unofficial reports, the historic building was used as a tavern in Colonial times. The fire, which apparently started in or near the kitchen at the rear of the house, burned up through the roof and destroyed the interior, leaving only the thick stone walls standing, the report said. Firemen from Accord, Kripplebush and Stone Ridge companies fought the blaze. (Freeman photo)

Refrigeration Talk Slated Wednesday

FRED HERMANN

Fred Hermann, refrigeration application engineer with Tenny Engineering, Newark, N. J., will be the special speaker for the Mid-Hudson Sub-Section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers Wednesday at the Central Hudson Auditorium, South Road, Poughkeepsie, at 7:30 p. m.

Hermann will talk on Low Temperature Refrigeration.

He has had a broad experience in low temperature refrigeration and will describe refrigeration applications. High altitude test chambers, low temperature "heat-treating" of metals and other uses will be discussed. He also will describe the relative merits of different refrigeration systems.

The meeting of the Mid-Hudson group is open to all interested area engineers.

College-Bound Cookies

When you are sending cookies to your boy or girl at college, choose the bar type of cookie, or the big soft drop variety. These two kinds are good travelers if you wrap them individually and cushion your layers with plenty of plastic straw. Be sure to choose a sturdy cardboard box in which to pack the cookies.

Change Furloughs

Ft. Devens, Mass. (AP)—Soldiers hustling back from furlough became involved in so many predawn highway accidents that Army authorities took action. Leaves formerly ended at 6 a. m. and the soldiers—weary from lack of sleep—often drove all night in an effort to arrive before reveille. Now all furloughs end at midnight.

Arterial Route Plan

25 Van Deusen St.
Kingston, N. Y.
Feb. 13, 1954

Editor, The Freeman:

Many residents of the city are apparently misinformed in regard to the approval of the Arterial Route Plan by the Common Council at its last session. In approving the plan in principle, we aldermen merely set the stage for the actual development of a tie-in with the Thruway. After the enabling acts have been passed by the Legislature, the State of New York Department of Public Works will survey the section to be built first. Then positive estimates as to cost and actual construction will be drawn up and presented to the city. At this time it is expected that all interested parties will present their opinions at a public hearing. It will be only after all these steps have been taken, and the due consideration given to the feelings of the residents of the city that any action will be taken which will commit the city to the spending of money on the project.

The acceptance of the "Plan" in principle means that the state of New York will, eventually, take over repair and maintenance of 5.2 miles of our city streets. This takes effect in the following manner. At such time as any of these streets have to be repaired, the state will do it and from that time on it will also take over snow removal and maintenance. Usually the city does the latter jobs and then is reimbursed by the state. The streets involved are Albany avenue, Broadway, McEntee, Wurts and East Chester streets.

I think the interest displayed by the people of the city is very healthful, but it seemed to me that the public should be better posted, so that these discussions would be more accurate. The results of these talks will be of great interest to your alderman, as it is only by knowing the wish if the majority, that he can best perform his duty.

My phone number is 6864.

Very truly,
JAMES K. RYAN
Alderman, 10th Ward

Change Furloughs

Ft. Devens, Mass. (AP)—Soldiers hustling back from furlough became involved in so many predawn highway accidents that Army authorities took action. Leaves formerly ended at 6 a. m. and the soldiers—weary from lack of sleep—often drove all night in an effort to arrive before reveille. Now all furloughs end at midnight.

Arterial Route Plan

25 Van Deusen St.
Kingston, N. Y.
Feb. 13, 1954

Editor, The Freeman:

Many residents of the city are apparently misinformed in regard to the approval of the Arterial Route Plan by the Common Council at its last session. In approving the plan in principle, we aldermen merely set the stage for the actual development of a tie-in with the Thruway. After the enabling acts have been passed by the Legislature, the State of New York Department of Public Works will survey the section to be built first. Then positive estimates as to cost and actual construction will be drawn up and presented to the city. At this time it is expected that all interested parties will present their opinions at a public hearing. It will be only after all these steps have been taken, and the due consideration given to the feelings of the residents of the city that any action will be taken which will commit the city to the spending of money on the project.

The acceptance of the "Plan" in principle means that the state of New York will, eventually, take over repair and maintenance of 5.2 miles of our city streets. This takes effect in the following manner. At such time as any of these streets have to be repaired, the state will do it and from that time on it will also take over snow removal and maintenance. Usually the city does the latter jobs and then is reimbursed by the state. The streets involved are Albany avenue, Broadway, McEntee, Wurts and East Chester streets.

I think the interest displayed by the people of the city is very healthful, but it seemed to me that the public should be better posted, so that these discussions would be more accurate. The results of these talks will be of great interest to your alderman, as it is only by knowing the wish if the majority, that he can best perform his duty.

My phone number is 6864.

Very truly,
JAMES K. RYAN
Alderman, 10th Ward

Negro American Music Topic of Meeting Of Musical Society

Miss Anne Goldrick read a paper on, The Growth of Negro Music in America," at the February meeting of the Musical Society held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. A. Noble Graham. She stated that the origin of Negro music in a controversial subject, but whether the background was African or just an outgrowth of the music the Negro has heard through the years, Negro music is always the sincere expression of his real nature and childlike temperament.

The spirituals are never composed, but are the spontaneous outburst of religious fervor. The element of self-pity in Negro music gave rise to the "blues," a type of sorrow song.

Mrs. William Rylance gave a brief sketch of three composers whose works were on the evening's program. Nathaniel Dett and Harry Burleigh, both Negroes, and John Powell, a southerner, have all contributed much to the advancement of Negro music and music education of Negroes in America.

Mrs. Lloyd Le Fever opened the musical program with a piano solo, Barcarolle by Dett. A spiritual, My Lord, What a Mornin' by Burleigh, was sung by Mrs. Herman Knaust, Jr., soprano. The first movement of Sonata for Violin and Piano, by Powell was played by Mrs. Donald Brown, violinist, and Mrs. William Rylance, pianist. It was entitled In the Quarters and was notable for its clever use of negro themes.

Mrs. Clarence Wolfersteig, soprano, sang two Bayou Songs by Lily Strickland. They were Morning on the Bayou, and a lullaby, Lil' Jasmine Bud. A piano duet arrangement of Juba Dance by Dett was played by Mrs. LeRoy Vogt and Mrs. William Wood. The program concluded with three spirituals of contrasting emotion, sung by the Choral Ensemble under the direction of Mrs. Willard Burke, and accompanied by Miss Edna Merrihew. The choral selections were Deep River by Burleigh, Peter, Go Ring Dem Bells, Cain, and Oh, Rise, Shine, by Parrish.

The hostesses for the evening's social hour were Mrs. Willard Burke and Miss Ethel Mauterstock.

Temple Emanuel Sisterhood Plans Barn Dance March 27

DoubleRing Ceremony Unites Ann F. Keyser, Glenn A. Debrosky

Miss Ann Frances Keyser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Keyser of 100 Grand street became the bride of Glenn Anthony Debrosky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony V. Debrosky of New Paltz in a ceremony held Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at St. Joseph's Church. The Rev. John D. Simmons officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Frank Rafferty was organist. Miss Marguerite Flaherty was soloist in the selection, Ave Maria.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace, fashioned with a molded bodice, long tapered sleeves. Her bouffant skirt, paneled in lace and tulle over bridal satin, terminated in a long train. A three quarter length French illusion veil was attached to a bridal cap of rosepoint lace. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and white sweet peas.

Miss Barbara Keyser of Kingston was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a gown of maize nylon net and lace styled with an Empire bodice, and bouffant floor length skirt, matching capelet and a headband of flowers. She carried a nosegay trimmed with lace in a rainbow of flowers.

Miss Jean Kain and Miss Jean Buttlieri, friends of the bride, of Kingston, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor in orchid, and carried identical bouquets.

Miss Teri Ann Debrosky, sister of the groom, was flower girl. Her frock was of maize nylon and net, styled with a fitted bodice, with puffed sleeves and a floor length hoop skirt. She wore a matching sweetheart bonnet and carried a small nosegay of flowers identical to those of the maid of honor.

Anthony Debrosky, Jr., of New Paltz, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Cornelius Keyser, brother of the bride, of Kingston, and John Gaddis, of Kingston. Richard Dawkins of Kingston was ringbearer.

A reception was held for 150 guests at the Maennerchor Hall, Greenkill avenue. Following the reception, the couple left on a wedding trip to New York. For traveling, the bride chose an ensemble of a grey dress and coat, with black and white accessories and an orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School, and was employed in the office of Levine Bros. Bag Co. The bridegroom, also a KHS graduate, is employed as installation man for Western Electric Co. They will make their home in Kingston.

Speaker Tells Story Of Marghab Linens To YW Women's Club

The story of the building of the Marghab Linen collection at the Georg Jensen store on Fifth avenue, New York, contains many trail-blazing episodes in various fields of endeavor. Miss Elsie Cane, who was guest speaker at the YWCA Women's Club on Thursday told of the development of this fabulous collection from the time the flax is soaked in Belgian waters, handwoven in Ireland and embroidered in the Portuguese island-province of Madeira, until it is shipped to United States, laundered and displayed in the Marghab Room of the Jensen store.

The delicate designs are not seasonal or conventional but developed to be both useful and beautiful. The linens are reminiscent of the achievements of Cellini and other Renaissance goldsmiths.

Even the individual small labels on the linens, the boxes in which they are packed and the advertising literature has brought a standard of excellence to the Marghab collection which enabled them to be chosen by the Metropolitan Museum for their permanent exhibit.

Miss Cane displayed various styles of linens, including napkins, lunch and tea cloths.

Mrs. William Ochs, president of the Women's Club, presided at the business meeting which preceded Miss Cane's talk. Announcement was made of the Women's Club annual fashion show which is to be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Wednesday, March 10 with Mrs. Parker Brinnier as general chairman. Miss Florence Cordts and Mrs. Clarence Dumm were appointed to have charge of tickets.

A food sale will be held at the Women's Club at the Montgomery Ward Store on North Front street, Feb. 20, beginning at 10 a. m. Mrs. Charles Terwilliger and her committee will be in charge.

A nominating committee was appointed by Mrs. Ochs consisting of Mrs. Arthur Laidlaw, chairman, Mrs. Frank Thompson, and Mrs. R. H. Van Valkenburgh.

Miss Palmer, general secretary of the YWCA, spoke on the efforts of the organization to bring the various clubs more closely together by the formation of an adult council consisting of representatives of each of the adult groups of the YWCA. She asked for cooperation in bringing old newspapers to the Y and folding them, also that members begin saving articles for the summer auction which they hope to make bigger and better this year.

Tea was served by the hospitality committee with Mrs. Robert Pixley, chairman. Miss Louise Merikle, Mrs. W. Locke and Mrs. Coutant are members. Mrs. R. H. Van Valkenburg poured.

Good Home Is Basic In Life for Children Says Guest Speaker

Edmund V. Burhans, county probation officer, spoke on the importance of the home, the school and religion, at a meeting of the P-TA of School No. 5 which met Thursday evening.

Mr. Burhans said that a child who feels he is loved and wanted at home seldom gets into any serious trouble outside the home. Most of the children today who are involved are those who come from broken homes, unhappy homes, or homes that have little or no supervision. The lack of religious training, Mr. Burhans added, is also often noted in these children.

He asserted that a good home gives a child the best foundation in life.

Following the talk Mr. Burhans answered questions asked by those members at the meeting. Refreshments were served by the hospitality committee.

Agudas Achim

The Men's Club of Agudas Achim Synagogue will hold its monthly business meeting Thursday at 8:30 p. m. Following the meeting, Philip F. McDonald of the local office of the Internal Revenue Department, will be the guest speaker. Refreshments will be served later.

EVENING LOOK NOW ONE-PIECE

This spring, clothes for evening are soft but elegant. While there are full skirts for after-five, there are also many straight ones like these (above). Shining silk satin evening gown (left) by Jacques Fath for Joseph Halpert is in ice blue. From front, it gives effect of double-breasted coat dress. Back skirt has deep fold pleat. Black silk linen sheath (right) by Mollie Parnis has white cotton lace bodice and short lace jacket. Bodice has Empire feeling sharpened by band of black velvet.

Resident of Kingston Holds 8th Army Post As Nursing Consultant

CAPTAIN ROSE STRALEY

Captain Rose V. Straley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Straley, Sr., of 70 Stephan street, who has seen much of the world since she entered the Army Nurse Corps in April, 1942, is now working in close cooperation with Republic of Korea hospitals in the Far East.

Her present post is assistant nursing consultant for the Eighth Army, a position she has held since her arrival in Korea around Christmas.

She currently directs U. S. Army assistance to the ROK hospitals and at the same time acts as liaison officer. Her job also holds her responsible for the medical and surgical teams of doctors and nurses of the army who work in these hospitals.

Trained in Japan

Prior to her new assignment in Korea, however, Captain Straley, a native of Weehawken, N. J., who later moved to Kingston, went through long training at the U. S. Army Hospital in Kyoto, Japan. She arrived in Japan last April.

During her extensive training in Japan, her work at the U. S. Army Hospital included actual care of battle-wounded patients and during this period of training her part was photographed by the army for later release as a training film for future WACs.

Overseas assignments to Captain Straley are nothing new, although this is her first tour of the Far East.

Since 1942 she has seen service in North Africa and Italy and during this time she received the Unit Merit Award, the American Theatre Ribbon, the Victory Ribbon and four battle stars.

KHS Graduate in '38

Captain Straley was graduated from Kingston High School in 1938 and then entered Kingston Hospital as a student nurse. Upon finishing her nurse's training she entered the Army Nurse Corps and remained there until the end of World War 2.

She then entered New York University at the end of the war and graduated in June 1949 with a bachelor of science degree in nursing. In April 1951, she again entered the service and before her overseas tour of duty began she was stationed at the U. S. Army Hospital, Fort Bragg, N. C., and at the Walter Reed Army Medical School in Washington, D. C.

Personal Notes

Dr. and Mrs. Felden Williams and children of Attica, are visiting Mrs. Williams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carlson of Golf Terrace. Dr. and Mrs. Williams are stopping off in Kingston on their way to Florida. She is the former Louise Carlson of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Miller of 101 Elmendorf street are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a son, Leonard Richard, born at the Kingston Hospital, Friday, Feb. 12. Mrs. Miller is the former Jean Fay of Tremper avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Snyder of Stone Ridge, are vacationing in Florida.

Soloist Will Appear With Combined Choirs On Brotherhood Day

The Reformed Protestant Dutch Church is observing "Brotherhood Sunday," at both services, February 21. The Franklin Street AME Zion Church, will join in the services with the Rev. Sampson Green, and the Rev. Arthur Oudemool conducting. The Official Board of the AME Zion Church, and the consistory of the Old Dutch Church will act together in ushering, and in receiving the offering.

Miss Edwina Divers will be the guest soloist with the combined choirs. Mrs. William Rylance will be at the organ. Miss Divers is an attractive and appealing lyric soprano. She was born in Omaha, Neb., daughter of the Rev. Frederick Divers, minister in the African Methodist Episcopal Church and the late Sadie Davis Divers, long remembered as an outstanding music educator in Oklahoma, is now a prominent young singer.

Her training in singing began before she was of school age and as elementary pupil in Okmulgee, Okla. After finishing high school in Jackson, Miss., Edwina Divers entered Dillard University, New Orleans, where she was carefully trained and coached in piano, vocal and instrumental music by Frederick Hall, composer-conductor. She also continued her studies with Dr. Hall at the Alabama State Teachers College, Montgomery, Ala.

Since then, she has done more advanced study in New York at the Julliard School of Music, and private study with Mme. Idell Patterson, Albert Barber, and she is now coaching with Coenraad Von Bos, coach and accompanist of this country and abroad.

Miss Divers has appeared with the original cast of the Broadway musical, Carmen Jones. She has also been the soloist of several of the leading churches in New York. She has given recitals in New York, Birmingham, Ala., Jackson, Miss., Albany, and several other musical centers.

In private life Miss Divers is the wife of the Rev. Evernard E. Williams, pastor of the St. John's AME Zion Church in Middletown. She is the mother of two children.

DoubleRing Ceremony Unites Ann F. Keyser, Glenn A. Debrosky

Miss Ann Frances Keyser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Keyser of 100 Grand street became the bride of Glenn Anthony Debrosky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony V. Debrosky of New Paltz in a ceremony held Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at St. Joseph's Church. The Rev. John D. Simmons officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Frank Rafferty was organist. Miss Marguerite Flaherty was soloist in the selection, Ave Maria.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace, fashioned with a molded bodice, long tapered sleeves. Her bouffant skirt, paneled in lace and tulle over bridal satin, terminated in a long train. A three quarter length French illusion veil was attached to a bridal cap of rosepoint lace. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and white sweet peas.

Miss Barbara Keyser of Kingston was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a gown of maize nylon net and lace styled with an Empire bodice, and bouffant floor length skirt, matching capelet and a headband of flowers. She carried a nosegay trimmed with lace in a rainbow of flowers.

Miss Jean Kain and Miss Jean Buttlieri, friends of the bride, of Kingston, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor in orchid, and carried identical bouquets.

Miss Teri Ann Debrosky, sister of the groom, was flower girl. Her frock was of maize nylon and net, styled with a fitted bodice, with puffed sleeves and a floor length hoop skirt. She wore a matching sweetheart bonnet and carried a small nosegay of flowers identical to those of the maid of honor.

Anthony Debrosky, Jr., of New Paltz, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Cornelius Keyser, brother of the bride, of Kingston, and John Gaddis, of Kingston. Richard Dawkins of Kingston was ringbearer.

Speaker Tells Story Of Marghab Linens To YW Women's Club

The story of the building of the Marghab Linen collection at the Georg Jensen store on Fifth avenue, New York, contains many trail-blazing episodes in various fields of endeavor. Miss Elsie Cane, who was guest speaker at the YWCA Women's Club on Thursday told of the development of this fabulous collection from the time the flax is soaked in Belgian waters, handwoven in Ireland and embroidered in the Portuguese island-province of Madeira, until it is shipped to United States, laundered and displayed in the Marghab Room of the Jensen store.

The delicate designs are not seasonal or conventional but developed to be both useful and beautiful. The linens are reminiscent of the achievements of Cellini and other Renaissance goldsmiths.

Even the individual small labels on the linens, the boxes in which they are packed and the advertising literature has brought a standard of excellence to the Marghab collection which enabled them to be chosen by the Metropolitan Museum for their permanent exhibit.

Miss Cane displayed various styles of linens, including napkins, lunch and tea cloths.

Mrs. William Ochs, president of the Women's Club, presided at the business meeting which preceded Miss Cane's talk. Announcement was made of the Women's Club annual fashion show which is to be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Wednesday, March 10 with Mrs. Parker Brinnier as general chairman. Miss Florence Cordts and Mrs. Clarence Dumm were appointed to have charge of tickets.

A food sale will be held at the Women's Club at the Montgomery Ward Store on North Front street, Feb. 20, beginning at 10 a. m. Mrs. Charles Terwilliger and her committee will be in charge.

A nominating committee was appointed by Mrs. Ochs consisting of Mrs. Arthur Laidlaw, chairman, Mrs. Frank Thompson, and Mrs. R. H. Van Valkenburgh.

Miss Palmer, general secretary of the YWCA, spoke on the efforts of the organization to bring the various clubs more closely together by the formation of an adult council consisting of representatives of each of the adult groups of the YWCA. She asked for cooperation in bringing old newspapers to the Y and folding them, also that members begin saving articles for the summer auction which they hope to make bigger and better this year.

Good Home Is Basic In Life for Children Says Guest Speaker

Edmund V. Burhans, county probation officer, spoke on the importance of the home, the school and religion, at a meeting of the P-TA of School No. 5 which met Thursday evening.

Mr. Burhans said that a child who feels he is loved and wanted at home seldom gets into any serious trouble outside the home. Most of the children today who are involved are those who come from broken homes, unhappy homes, or homes that have little or no supervision. The lack of religious training, Mr. Burhans added, is also often noted in these children.

He asserted that a good home gives a child the best foundation in life.

Following the talk Mr. Burhans answered questions asked by those members at the meeting. Refreshments were served by the hospitality committee.

Agudas Achim

The Men's Club of Agudas Achim Synagogue will hold its monthly business meeting Thursday at 8:30 p. m. Following the meeting, Philip F. McDonald of the local office of the Internal Revenue Department, will be the guest speaker. Refreshments will be served later.

EVENING LOOK NOW ONE-PIECE

This spring, clothes for evening are soft but elegant. While there are full skirts for after-five, there are also many straight ones like these (above). Shining silk satin evening gown (left) by Jacques Fath for Joseph Halpert is in fee blue. From front, it gives effect of double-breasted coat dress. Back skirt has deep fold pleat. Black silk linen sheath (right) by Mollie Parnis has white cotton lace bodice and short lace jacket. Bodice has Empire feeling sharpened by band of black velvet.

Resident of Kingston Holds 8th Army Post As Nursing Consultant

CAPTAIN ROSE STRALEY

Captain Rose V. Straley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Straley, Sr., of 70 Stephan street, who has seen much of the world since she entered the Army Nurse Corps in April, 1942, is now working in close cooperation with Republic of Korea hospitals in the Far East.

Her present post is assistant nursing consultant for the Eighth Army, a position she has held since her arrival in Korea around Christmas.

She currently directs U. S. Army assistance to the ROK hospitals and at the same time acts as liaison officer. Her job also holds her responsible for the medical and surgical teams of doctors and nurses of the army who work in these hospitals.

Trained in Japan

Prior to her new assignment in Korea, however, Captain Straley, a native of Weehawken, N. J., who later moved to Kingston, went through long training at the U. S. Army Hospital in Kyoto, Japan. She arrived in Japan last April.

During her extensive training in Japan, her work at the U. S. Army Hospital included actual care of battle-wounded patients and during this period of training her part was photographed by the army for later release as a training film for future WACs.

Overseas assignments to Captain Straley are nothing new, although this is her first tour of the Far East.

Since 1942 she has seen service in North Africa and Italy and during this time she received the Unit Merit Award, the American Theatre Ribbon, the Victory Ribbon and four battle stars.

KHS Graduate in '38

Captain Straley was graduated from Kingston High School in 1938 and then entered Kingston Hospital as a student nurse. Upon finishing her nurse's training she entered the Army Nurse Corps and remained there until the end of World War 2.

She then entered New York University at the end of the war and graduated in June 1949 with a bachelor of science degree in nursing. In April 1951, she again entered the service and before her overseas tour of duty began she was stationed at the U. S. Army Hospital, Fort Bragg, N. C., and at the Walter Reed Army Medical School in Washington, D. C.

Personal Notes

Dr. and Mrs. Felden Williams and children of Attica, are visiting Mrs. Williams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carlson of Golf Terrace. Dr. and Mrs. Williams are stopping off in Kingston on their way to Florida. She is the former Louise Carlson of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Miller of 101 Elmendorf street are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a son, Leonard Richard, born at the Kingston Hospital, Friday, Feb. 12. Mrs. Miller is the former Jean Fay of Tremper avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Snyder of Stone Ridge, are vacationing in Florida.

Soloist Will Appear With Combined Choirs On Brotherhood Day

The Reformed Protestant Dutch Church is observing "Brotherhood Sunday," at both services, February 21. The Franklin Street AME Zion Church, will join in the services with the Rev. Sampson Green, and the Rev. Arthur Oudemool conducting. The Official Board of the AME Zion Church, and the consistory of the Old Dutch Church will act together in ushering, and in receiving the offering.

Miss Edwina Divers will be the guest soloist with the combined choirs. Mrs. William Rylance will be at the organ. Miss Divers is an attractive and appealing lyric soprano. She was born in Omaha, Neb., daughter of the Rev. Frederick Divers, minister in the African Methodist Episcopal Church and the late Sadie Davis Divers, long remembered as an outstanding music educator in Oklahoma, is now a prominent young singer.

Her training in singing began before she was of school age and as elementary pupil in Okmulgee, Okla. After finishing high school in Jackson, Miss., Edwina Divers entered Dillard University, New Orleans, where she was carefully trained and coached in piano, vocal and instrumental music by Frederick Hall, composer-conductor. She also continued her studies with Dr. Hall at the Alabama State Teachers College, Montgomery, Ala.

Since then, she has done more advanced study in New York at the Julliard School of Music, and private study with Mme. Idell Patterson, Albert Barber, and she is now coaching with Coenraad Von Bos, coach and accompanist of this country and abroad.

Miss Divers has appeared with the original cast of the Broadway musical, Carmen Jones. She has also been the soloist of several of the leading churches in New York. She has given recitals in New York, Birmingham, Ala., Jackson, Miss., Albany, and several other musical centers.

In private life Miss Divers is the wife of the Rev. Evernard E. Williams, pastor of the St. John's AME Zion Church in Middletown. She is the mother of two children.

Bell Is Accused Of Smoking Up Jail

De Forest Bell, 39, of 147 Jansen avenue, who was arrested early today on a disorderly conduct charge allegedly set fire to papers at the county jail.

Bell and Edna Hogan, 46, of 147 Jansen avenue, were arrested after police were called to the Jansen avenue address at 2:31 a. m. Officer Anthony Turck and Special Benjamin Osterhoudt were dispatched to the house and it was charged that the two were having a noisy argument and refused to stop after the officers arrived.

Adjourned to Saturday

Bell was taken to the jail and the woman was released on bail pending appearance today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino who put the cases over until Saturday.

A police report at 3:50 a. m., noted that Bell was causing a disturbance at the jail and Officers Thomas Tomshaw and Edward Edwards were dispatched there. Tomshaw said the fire, which, it is charged, Bell set, caused considerable smoke in the building.

Miss Bernice Altomari, Edward Jankowski United in Marriage

Miss Bernice Altomari became the bride of Edward Jankowski, Sunday, Feb. 14, at 2 p. m. at St. Anne's Church, Sawkill.

Miss Altomari is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Altomari of 221 Albany avenue extension. Mr. Jankowski is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Jankowski of Lake Mohonk.

The organist for the ceremony was the bride's brother, Angelo Altomari. The soloist, Mrs. Peter Mancuso, sang the selections, Mother Beloved and Ave Maria. The altar was decorated with white gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Skinner satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long pointed sleeves and a cathedral train. Her lace fingertip veil was attached to a beaded crown. She carried a white prayer book with a white orchid and satin streamers.

Miss Barbara Altomari, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. she wore an aqua gown with a velvet top, and netting over a taffeta skirt. Her headpiece was of artificial roses. Her flowers were white feathered carnations with yellow roses.

John Battaglia of New York, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Michael Altomari, brother of the bride, was an usher.

A reception for 40 guests was held at the home of the bride.

The couple left on a wedding trip to California. For traveling, the bride wore a pink wool suit, grey fitted coat and brown accessories.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Jankowski will make their home for the present at Lake Mohonk.

Management Club To Meet Feb. 25

50 Club Praised For Youth Program

Approximately 100 members of the 50 Club, their wives and guests, attended the organization's annual dinner Sunday in the Yacht Club Restaurant on Abeel street, where speakers praised the efforts of the club over the past eight years for its youth program.

Mayor Frederick H. Stang commended the club for its Fourth of July celebration at Block Park each year where youngsters gather to enjoy athletic competition, other games and refreshments.

"You are rendering a great service to the youth of the city," the mayor said, "and it is a fine thing to know that this work will carry on."

Other speakers were Bob Browning, local newscaster, an honorary member of the club; Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly, also a member; Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, Captains William Geary, Edward (Yank) Albright, President Frank Sass. Thomas F. Coughlin, former alderman of the Seventh Ward, where the club originated was toastmaster.

Dick Scherer, vocalist, and James Perry, ventriloquist, entertained.

Music for dancing was by the Star Dust Trio.

Easy's the Word for Spring Coats

The straight, rounding coat and the fitted coat make up the important silhouettes this spring. There's great variety in styling of the straight coat and even in the length. We show the fitted coat (left) in navy worsted with molded shoulder line. This Ben Zuckerman design has horseshoe collar, is single-breasted. Dress-and-coat ensemble (center) comprise one of spring's outstanding fashions. This particular design is by Mollie Parnis, with dress and coat in gray silk wool worsted alpaca. There's a pure silk lining in the coat. Dress is molded to the body. The seven-eighths length coat (right) in navy suede is an important spring silhouette, has binding of grosgrain and single rhinestone button at neck. This Ben Zuckerman design is lined in white taffeta. Such coats are worn with narrow, simple skirts. News in coat fabrics is the trend to those that are lightweight and crisp.

Committee Not Prepared

The committee is not prepared now to recommend legislation on these points. But it sponsored a resolution to extend the study until March 1, 1955, and asked for an appropriation of $50,000.

Most of the report covered testimony taken a public hearings in New York city and in Rochester. Evidence showed that "chiselers, fakers, and outright swindlers have made New York state a "happy hunting ground," the committee said.

Further hearings are planned in Buffalo and Elmira in the near future. Sen. Bernard Tompkins, Manhattan Republican and chairman of the committee, said the bills introduced today would be changed if the testimony to be taken required it.

Punishable by Fines

The measures authorize the attorney general to charge any violators with misdemeanors, punishable by fines of up to $500, or sentences of up to one year in jail, or both.

In addition, the attorney general would be empowered to seek an injunction preventing individuals or agencies from soliciting funds within the state if they had not complied with the proposed laws.

The measures exempt religious organizations from registering and filing reports. Also exempted are educational organizations and fraternal or patriotic groups seeking funds from their own memberships.

Campaigns for a single individual specified by name also would be exempt. Tompkins explained the provision was intended to permit "passing the hat" on a small scale for one person.

In addition, the attorney general would be empowered to seek an injunction preventing individuals or agencies from soliciting funds within the state if they had not complied with the proposed laws.

The measures exempt religious organizations from registering and filing reports. Also exempted are educational organizations and fraternal or patriotic groups seeking funds from their own memberships.

Campaigns for a single individual specified by name also would be exempt. Tompkins explained the provision was intended to permit "passing the hat" on a small scale for one person.

Hour-a-day Policeman

Estherville, Iowa (AP)—The position of police chief in Estherville is a one-hour-a-day job. The City Council, in naming Harold Iseminger to the post, fixed his salary at $40 monthly. And Iseminger and Mayor G. K. Allen agreed that the new chief should put in an hour a day on the job. The rest of his working day Iseminger gives to the automobile radiator shop he operates here.

Sickler's Delivery Cops Second Half in Rec Loop

Whips Violets, 65-56; Series Starts Monday

Sickler's Delivery swept to the second half title in the Recreation Senior League last night with a 65-56 triumph over the Violets at the MJM gym.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Deliverymen.

The best-of-three championship series with Newkirk Aces, first half winners, starts next Monday.

Sickler's two front line scoring aces — Don Ferraro and Hermie Sickler—paid off again. Ferraro led both teams with 24 points and Sickler rimmed 20.

Tom Culjak and Ronnie Brandt hooped 14 points each for the Violets and Don Woods and Denny Lenahan had a dozen apiece.

Plane Crash Kayoes Vejar

Columbus, Ga., Feb. 16 (AP)—Boxer Chico Vejar, now an army private at nearby Ft. Benning, was injured in a forced landing of his private plane yesterday.

Vejar, formerly ranked fifth among the world's welterweight boxers, suffered a fractured lower jaw, loss of six teeth and multiple lacerations. The post hospital reported his condition as good.

A passenger, Lou Pavlic, a newly discharged soldier from Chicago, was injured slightly. He had flown with Vejar on numerous flights.

"This is one fight I didn't get paid for," Vejar said as he was taken to the hospital.

He said the fuel system in his PT19 failed when he tried to switch gas tanks at a low altitude.

Pavlic said the plane barely cleared a clump of trees, went under some power lines and landed in a field. The plane hit a terrace and bounced about 25 feet.

Howe Boosts Lead to Ten

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Gordie Howe, Detroit's big right winger, enjoyed a 10-point lead today in his drive to win the National Hockey League's scoring crown for the fourth straight season.

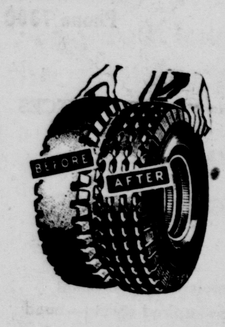

Howe has scored 26 goals and has 38 assists for 64 points while runner-up Maurice (The Rocket) Richard of Montreal Haas collected 32 goals and 22 assists for 54 points. Howe also leads the league in assists and Richard in goals.

Ted Lindsay, Howe's teammate is in third spot with 47 points while Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion of Montreal is one point behind Lindsay.

In the only game played last night, the Red Wings climbed to a 10-point lead by nipping the Chicago Blackhawks 3-2.

Considerable agitation among the DUSO's village schools for a return to the conference-type schedule in basketball next season. And thus avoid home-and-home clashes with the Big Three — Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh. Mickey Burkoski's 35 points against Monticello were a career high for the NFA star. But it fell 19 under the all-time Newburgh and DUSO record of 54 set by Dashin' Dick Tyler, now at North Carolina State. Just coincidental, perhaps, but in both of Kingston's 31-point period sprees this season—against Poughkeepsie and Middletown—lanky John Godwin was the sparkplug. The Maroon hit an amazing 62 per cent in the third period rally that blitzed the possession-minded Middies.

Seems ridiculous but only about 35 adults were in the crowd when Kingston and Poughkepsie clashed this afternoon at Poughkeepsie. All other tickets for the bandbox gym went to students from the two schools. Dick Bezemer was just a point under 22-average and Skip Brodhead was crowding 19. Burkoski is just a shade under a 22-point average at NFA. That Joey Giambra-Italo Scortichini fiasco last Friday further emphasizes that TV can be a beautiful illusion in boxing. To this department it seemed that Scortichini led by as much as 7-3 in rounds. But it's hard to fault Referee Ruby Goldstein in any fight. Maybe Scortichini's flailing rights weren't as impressive as they looked from your parlor seat or favorite tavern stool. You just can't believe what you see on TV —sometimes.

Weaver's Top Game?

..Quotes from Cliff Hagan of Kentucky, which shows why he's an All-America: "You can get any rebound you want bad enough. Use the lines of the foul area as a road map leading to the basket." Is the TV age in sports changing our homes into psychiatric wards? Lou Schafer, George McElroy and "Champ" Holstein returned from West Point raving about Big Ed Weaver's brilliant performance in Army's victory over Wagner College Saturday. "Eddie controlled the backboards beautifully and his tip-off rebounds to other Army players was something to see," Schafer said. "Big Ed tok charge of the Army team, directed the passwork and was the last regular to leave the game. With 16 points, he was outdistanced by Mark Binstein and captain Bill Hannon but Eddie was the most valuable player on the floor," Schafer went on. "When he left the game, the Cadet cheering section stood up to a man and rocked the hall with applause. It might easily have been the finest game Weaver has played at West Point. "

Jack Dawkins, the Grand street restaurateur, is recovering from a freak accident that happened under unusual circumstances. Jack and a group of old time baseball players were leaving the Ten Grand Tavern en route to Murphy's funeral home to serve as pall bearers for the late Eddie Scherer. The former alderman slipped on the ice and fell heavily to the ground. He got up and Tom Davitt, one of the group, asked: "How do you feel, Jack?" "Okay," came the reply. In the next moment, Jack conked out. He made two different trips to the hospital for a shoulder separation and torn ligaments, but is making a nice recovery at home and working a few hours at a time at his tavern. The man who handles the loudspeaker for all basketball games in Madison Square Garden is John Condon, who lives in mortal fear he'll fluff a tough name like Walowac. And has a tough heckler behind him in every game who yells in Brooklynese, "Hey, I dare yo t'try dat one again."

A prominent local legal light confides to friends he won't watch boxing anymore. Every Friday night he turns off the TV set precisely at 9:45 and retires for the night. "I just can't sleep after watching one of those bouts," he admits. Another local resident died of heart attack recently after viewing the rousing brawl between Chico Vejar and Ned Black. Just a co-incidence, maybe, but we've heard of other similar incidents, especially when the rasslers go at it. Is the TV age of sports turning our homes into psychiatric wards?

Reveal Holman's Fate on Feb. 25

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—The decisions of a three-man board which held hearings on charges against suspended City College basketball coach Nat Holman and his assistant will be made public Feb. 25.

Gustave G. Rosenberg, chairman of the trial board, said last night the decision will be reported to the Board of Higher Education at a special meeting. Holman and his assistant Harry (Bobby) Sand, were tried on charges of conduct unbecoming a teacher. The charges grew out of the college basketball "fix" scandals of 1951, which involved several CCNY players.

Santee Runs Second Fastest Mile in U. S. Indoor History

East Lansing, Mich., Feb. 16 (AP)—Wes Santee, the self-confident Kansas cowboy, had coralled the second fastest competitive indoor mile in history today but still wasn't satisfied.

Santee loped around the 8-lap Michigan State College dirt track 4:04.9 last night as the feature of a triangular meet among Kansas, Illinois and Michigan State.

The cocky Kansan said afterwards he's sure he can go a faster mile, when he gets on a board track. He wasn't too satisfied with his time and expressed confidence that some day he will crack the four-minute barrier.

Santee's time will stand as the world indoor record for a dirt track. Only Glenn Cunningham's sensational 4:04.4 of 1938—on a board track — exceeds Santee's performance in indoor competition.

Three Different Records

So now there are three separate indoor mile records:

1. Cunningham, 4:04.4, 6½-lap board track.

2. Santee, 4:04.9, 8-lap dirt track.

3. Gil Dodds, 4:05.3, 11-lap board track.

Dodds set his record at Madison Square Garden in 1948. Cunningham set his at Dartmouth College in a handicap race. Both were on board tracks, but the number of laps varied.

Differences in the conditions of all three are relevant.

"We have to list them separately because some places don't have board tracks and others don't have dirt tracks," explained Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the National Amateur Athletic Union, in New York.

"We couldn't have one standard with two kinds of tracks."

Santee hopes to cut into some of this confusion by setting a new board track time later in the season.

Brewed to the American taste... to the American figure

Ballantine Beer watches your belt-line

...with fewer calories than any other leading beer

It's good to know that nowadays all of the leading beers are lower in calories than they used to be... that all are starch-free ... that none of them has more than a negligible trace of sugar.

Especially good to know—if you're counting up your calorie quota—that Ballantine is lowest of all. Independent laboratory tests show that Ballantine has fewer calories than any other leading beer.

But Ballantine not only watches your belt-line. Ballantine Beer is brewed to the American taste as well as to the American figure.

Ballantine Beer is the product of 114 years of brewing experience; it has the same full flavor and fine character that have made it one of America's largest selling beers.

Next time, ask the man for Ballantine—the low-calorie beer with the flavor that chill can't kill! P. Ballantine & Sons, Newark, N. J.

Brewed to the American taste... to the American figure

Ballantine Beer watches your belt-line

...with fewer calories than any other leading beer

It's good to know that nowadays all of the leading beers are lower in calories than they used to be... that all are starch-free ... that none of them has more than a negligible trace of sugar.

Especially good to know—if you're counting up your calorie-quota—that Ballantine is lowest of all. Independent laboratory tests show that Ballantine has fewer calories than any other leading beer.

But Ballantine not only watches your belt-line. Ballantine Beer is brewed to the American taste as well as to the American figure.

Ballantine Beer is the product of 114 years of brewing experience; it has the same full flavor and fine character that have made it one of America's largest selling beers.

Next time, ask the man for Ballantine—the low-calorie beer with the flavor that chill can't kill! P. Ballantine & Sons, Newark, N. J.

Since 1840

"m-m-m, the wonderful flavor that chill can't kill!"

KHS Skiers Plan Entry In Section 9

Kingston High School will be represented in the Section 9 ski championships on Saturday, Feb. 27, at Highmount, it was learned today.

Although there is no recognized ski varsity at KHS, several members of the high school ski club are planning to compete.

The Section 9 meet is a slalom affair in three divisions—Senior, Junior and Novice—with the trails geared for each division.

No lineup has been announced for the varsity (Senior) competition, but it is believed that, among others, Louis Kuntz, Roger Billings, Bob McNierney, Serge Angill, Beverly and Barbara Davenport will take part. Additional members of the team are to be announced later.

Kingston High won the Senior championship last year.

Duquesne Ousts Kentucky From No. 1 Spot in Poll

New York, Feb. 16—Duquesne's unbeaten Dukes, profiting at the expense of Indiana and the Oklahoma Aggies, ousted the other unbeaten major college team, Kentucky, from the top place in the national basketball rankings today.

After occupying a threatening position for several weeks, the Dukes moved into the lead in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports wrtiers and sportscasters. The margin was 814 points to 761, on the usual basis of ten points for a first place vote, nine for second, etc.

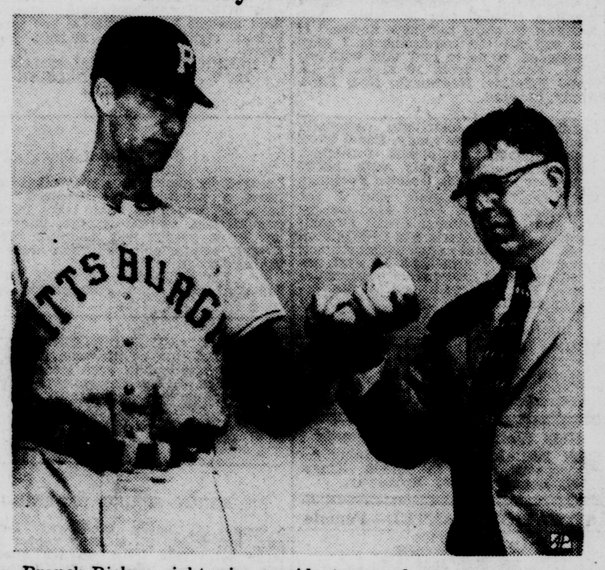

Duquesne and Kentucky each polled 24 first place votes out of 104 ballots, but, just like last week, the Dukes scored heavily on those ballots where they were placed third or lower. Last week Duquesne, with only 12 firsts, picked up enough points to trail Kentucky by only six points.

Nothing in the performances of these two teams accounted for the switch in sentiment, but indications were that the backers of Indiana and Oklahoma A. and M., swung toward Duquesne after their favorites were beaten. The Hoosiers and Aggies both were beaten for the second time this season during the past week and their point totals fell off.

The leading team on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first place votes and won-lost records in parentheses):

Duquesne (24)	(20-0)	814
Kentucky (24)	(19-0)	761
Indiana (7)	(16-2)	650
Western Kentucky (5)	(24-1)	537
Oklahoma A&M (5)	(20-2)	468
Notre Dame (2)	(14-2)	308
Seattle (6)	(24-1)	280
George Washington (11)	(16-1)	273

Jenkins Heads for Second Skate Title

Oslo, Norway, Feb. 16 (AP)—Defending champion Hayes Alan Jenkins of Akron, O., led the men's singles field after the opening round of the world figure skating meet today with fellow countryman James Grogan of Colorado Springs ranked second.

France's 16 year old Alain Giletti was third after the morning round. The skaters were to resume the figures and pair tests after lunch.

A sweep by U. S. entries in men's singles was predicted as the four-day test opened in Oslo's Olympic Jordal hockey rank with 70 skaters from 11 nations on hand.

Another American, Tenley Albright of Boston, is the defending titlist in the women's singles.

Talk Unlimited

Portsmouth, Va. (AP) — Party line talk will continue unlimited on Norfolk county's rural telephones. The county Farm Bureau which had sought installation of gadgets that would cut off conservation after three minutes, abandoned the project after receiving a report from its investigating committee. The women folks, the committee reported, won't stand for it.

Patterson Wins But He Isn't Ready for Maxim

Brooklyn, Feb. 16 (AP)—Undefeated Floyd Patterson has ten straight victories and is the fifth ranking light heavyweight contender of the world but manager Custer (Cus) D'Amato is in no hurry to push his pugilistic prodigy.

"No Joey Maxim for him," said D'Amato after the 19-year-old Olympic champion punched out a unanimous eight round decision over durable Yvon Durelle of Canada at Eastern Parkway Arena last night.

It was a clear cut win for the Brooklyn Negro but he was far from impressive and as wild as a southpaw pitcher on an off-day.

"He'll fight someone at the Parkway on March 15," said D'Amato, "but it won't be Joey Maxim or any top-ranking light heavyweight. If he managed to beat Maxim, who would he fight? Moore? (light heavyweight champion Archie Moore). Let's not kid anyone. Floyd has a lot to learn just like I've told you all along."

Patterson, who weighed 167½ to Durelle's 170¾, missed as often as he connected and twice fell to the canvas after swinging at the air. Rusty after a two-months layoff, Floyd staggered the former Canadian light heavyweight champion several times but he couldn't drop him.

The unanimous votes for Patterson were: Referee Abe Simon, 5-2-1; Judges Joe Eppy and Leo Birnbaum 5-3 each. The AP scoreboard favored Patterson, 6-2. Simon took the last round from Patterson for rabbit punches.

Goats Hamper Forests

Beirut (AP)—Goat control is the aim of a new bill being drawn up by Lebanon's Ministry of Agriculture. To promote a forestation program on the nearly-bare Lebanon Mountains, Minister of Agriculture Kazem El Khalil has proposed a law curtailing the goats. He calls them the greatest enemies of its forests. Proposed is a slow transfer from goats, first, to the less-destructive sheep, and finally from sheep to cattle.

YOU SHOULD KNOW HOW TAXES
ARE DETERMINED ON WHISKEY
. . . so you'll know how to get the most for your money!

Whiskey is taxed according to "Proof." The higher the Proof, the more the taxes. Most leading blends are no more than 86 Proof. Fleischmann's, being 90 Proof, pays $1.03 more per case in taxes than 86 Proof blends. Yet Fleischmann's costs you less than many leading brands of lower Proof!

Proof is the measure of a whiskey's "strength" (its "alcoholic volume"). And Fleischmann's full 90 Proof means you get more enjoyment, more flavor in every sip. That's why Fleischmann's is America's best blended whiskey value. Try it . . . today!

KHS Skiers Plan Entry In Section 9

Kingston High School will be represented in the Section 9 ski championships on Saturday, Feb. 27, at Highmount, it was learned today.

Although there is no recognized ski varsity at KHS, several members of the high school ski club are planning to compete.

The Section 9 meet is a slalom affair in three divisions—Senior, Junior and Novice—with the trails geared for each division.

No lineup has been announced for the varsity (Senior) competition, but it is believed that, among others, Louis Kuntz, Roger Billings, Bob McNierney, Serge Angill, Beverly and Barbara Davenport will take part. Additional members of the team are to be announced later.

Kingston High won the Senior championship last year.

Duquesne Ousts Kentucky From No. 1 Spot in Poll

New York, Feb. 16—Duquesne's unbeaten Dukes, profiting at the expense of Indiana and the Oklahoma Aggies, ousted the other unbeaten major college team, Kentucky, from the top place in the national basketball rankings today.

After occupying a threatening position for several weeks, the Dukes moved into the lead in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports wrtiers and sportscasters. The margin was 814 points to 761, on the usual basis of ten points for a first place vote, nine for second, etc.

Duquesne and Kentucky each polled 24 first place votes out of 104 ballots, but, just like last week, the Dukes scored heavily on those ballots where they were placed third or lower. Last week Duquesne, with only 12 firsts, picked up enough points to trail Kentucky by only six points.

Nothing in the performances of these two teams accounted for the switch in sentiment, but indications were that the backers of Indiana and Oklahoma A. and M., swung toward Duquesne after their favorites were beaten. The Hoosiers and Aggies both were beaten for the second time this season during the past week and their point totals fell off.

The leading team on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first place votes and won-lost records in parentheses):

Duquesne (24)	(20-0)		814
Kentucky (24)	(19-0)		761
Indiana (7)	(16-2)		650
Western Kentucky (5)	(24-1)		537
Oklahoma A&M (5)	(20-2)		468
Notre Dame (2)	(14-2)		308
Seattle (6)	(24-1)		280
George Washington (11)	(16-1)		273
Holy Cross (6)	(19-1)		255
Iowa (1)	(14-3)		205

Rickey Shows How

Fighter Injured

Chico Vejar, welterweight boxer, now a private in Army at Fort Benning, Ga., lies on hospital bed in Columbus, Ga. (Feb. 15) after he received facial lacerations and a possible broken jaw when his light, private plane crashed near there. Vejar was piloting the plane. (AP Wirephoto).

Rapps Stay Undefeated

Esposito's made a three-point halftime lead stand up against the Immaculate Conception for a 41-39 victory in the Recreation Midget basketball league last night at the George Washington school.

In the companion piece, Rapp's Juniors led all the way to trounce the Renns, 59-45.

Esposito's led 20-16 at the half. Esposito was high for Immaculates with 11 points, Nick Kearney rimmed 10. Individual star was Sember of Esposito's with 18 points.

Rapps ran up a 16-2 edge over the Renns in the first quarter and was ahead 26-16 at halftime, Tomaseskie holed 20 points for Rapps. Woods hit 15 and Fisher 12. Mel Williams (18) and Charlie Williams (14) starred for the Renns.

Talk Unlimited

Portsmouth, Va. (AP)—Party line talk will continue unlimited on Norfolk county's rural telephones. The county Farm Bureau which had sought installation of gadgets that would cut off conservation after three minutes, abandoned the project after receiving a report from its investigating committee. The women folks, the committee reported, won't stand for it.

Patterson Wins But He Isn't Ready for Maxim

Brooklyn, Feb. 16 (AP)—Undefeated Floyd Patterson has ten straight victories and is the fifth ranking light heavyweight contender of the world but manager Custer (Cus) D'Amato is in no hurry to push his pugilistic prodigy.

"No Joey Maxim for him," said D'Amato after the 19-year-old Olympic champion punched out a unanimous eight round decision over durable Yvon Durelle of Canada at Eastern Parkway Arena last night.

It was a clear cut win for the Brooklyn Negro but he was far from impressive and as wild as a southpaw pitcher on an off-day.

"He'll fight someone at the Parkway on March 15," said D'Amato, "but it won't be Joey Maxim or any top-ranking light heavyweight. If he managed to beat Maxim, who would he fight? Moore? (light heavyweight champion Archie Moore). Let's not kid anyone. Floyd has a lot to learn just like I've told you all along."

Patterson, who weighed 167½ to Durelle's 170¾, missed as often as he connected and twice fell to the canvas after swinging at the air. Rusty after a two-months layoff, Floyd staggered the former Canadian light heavyweight champion several times but he couldn't drop him.

The unanimous votes for Patterson were: Referee Abe Simon, 5-2-1; Judges Joe Eppy and Leo Birnbaum 5-3 each. The AP scoreboard favored Patterson, 6-2. Simon took the last round from Patterson for rabbit punches.

Goats Hamper Forests

Beirut (AP)—Goat control is the aim of a new bill being drawn up by Lebanon's Ministry of Agriculture. To promote a forestation program on the nearly-bare Lebanon Mountains, Minister of Agriculture Kazem El Khalil has proposed a law curtailing the goats. He calls them the greatest enemies of its forests. Proposed is a slow transfer from goats, first, to the less-destructive sheep, and finally from sheep to cattle.

Music Festival

Jerusalem, Israel (AP)—Thirty national sections of the International Society of Contemporary Music and the International Music Council of UNESCO will be represented at the Music Festival to be held in Jerusalem next spring.

Jenkins Heads for Second Skate Title

Oslo, Norway, Feb. 16 (AP)—Defending champion Hayes Alan Jenkins of Akron, O., led the men's singles field after the opening round of the world figure skating meet today with fellow countryman James Grogan of Colorado Springs ranked second.

France's 16 year old Alain Giletti was third after the morning round. The skaters were to resume the figures and pair tests after lunch.

A sweep by U. S. entries in men's singles was predicted as the four-day test opened in Oslo's Olympic Jordal hockey rank with 70 skaters from 11 nations on hand.

Another American, Tenley Albright of Boston, is the defending titlist in the women's singles.

YOU SHOULD KNOW HOW TAXES
ARE DETERMINED ON WHISKEY
. . . so you'll know how to get the most for your money!

Whiskey is taxed according to "Proof." The higher the Proof, the more the taxes. Most leading blends are no more than 86 Proof. Fleischmann's, being 90 Proof, pays $1.03 more per case in taxes than 86 Proof blends. Yet Fleischmann's costs you less than many leading brands of lower Proof!

Proof is the measure of a whiskey's "strength" (its "alcoholic volume"). And Fleischmann's full 90 Proof means you get more enjoyment, more flavor in every sip. That's why Fleischmann's is America's best blended whiskey value. Try it . . . today!

Time Is Extended For Farm Taxes

The Internal Revenue Service has announced that the time for filing the Exempt Cooperative Association Income Tax Return, Form 990-C, and payment of any income tax due from an exempt farmers' cooperative marketing and purchasing association for a taxable year beginning in 1953 has been extended until the fifteenth day of the ninth month following the close of the taxable year. This extension represents a change in the date for filing and payment contained in paragraph D on page 1 of the General Instructions accompanying Form 990C.

Cooperative associations concerned are advised, however, that interest at the rate of six per cent per annum will be assessed and collected on the amount determined as the tax from the original due date for payment of the tax, the fifteenth day of the third month following the close of the taxable year, until the date such tax is paid. The payment of the tax, or any installment thereof, made in advance of the filing of the return will stay the accumulation of interest on the amount of such payment from the time it is paid.

terested in enlarging their American markets.

U. S. Officials think that the division of Germany—confirmed by the failure of the Berlin conference to do anything more than talk about it—now must be expected to continue for several years without any hope of change.

Line Based on Strength

One line of reasoning is that if the European defense community, now awaiting French approval, is finally set up, the position of the west will become so strong that Russia will give up hope of ever taking over West Germany and may then be induced to consider a reasonable German unity program.

What inducement might be offered to the Russians to yield their grip on East Germany was not clear, but the opinion is one to which some importance is attached in the U. S. delegation here.

In the meantime, officials said it is to the advantage of the western powers to knock down the barriers between East and West Germany wherever possible because that means the people in the East can have more contacts and know more about life in the free West.

The Big Four conference battle for France appeared ended after a clearcut French rejection of every major proposal made by Russia in the past three weeks here.

Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith face Senate Foreign Relations Committee members in a closed session today in what could develop into a searching review of U. S. military strategy as it affects foreign policy.

In this connection, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, said in an interview he believes members of Congress need to know more about the administration's "new look" military program.

Is Not Member

Johnson is not a Foreign Relations Committee member but some Democrats on the group are known to share his views.

The administration's new military program puts more reliance on air power and less on ground forces, but Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) told the Senate yesterday that perhaps the Russians already have "the new look in being."

Alluding to reports that a squadron of jet powered bombers already is operating in northern Russia across the polar cap from the United States, Symington said if this is true "we may be looking down the barrel of a possible intercontinental attack."

Symington, a former air force secretary, said this country doesn't have "a single modern long range bomber wing in action."

Advice Accepted

Greenville, S. C. (AP)—Circuit Judge J. B. Jruitt received a letter which he read in court. It said: "I was before you a while ago and pleaded guilty to non-port of my family. You talked to me and gave me advice on how I should live. I followed the advice to the best of my ability, Now I am in jail."

Fruit of Wisdom

Omaha (AP)—A 7-year-old girl explained to little brother how grapefruit are made. "They start out tiny and sweet," she expounded with authority. "What makes them sour when the get bigger?" asked little brother. "They're just like people," sister said.

Liquor Well Hidden

Whiteville, N. C. (AP)—Deputies sheriff are becoming experts in the art of finding liquor caches. On one raid they had to move a dresser and raise a board in the floor to find 60 bottles of bonded whiskey. On another, they found 11 half-gallon jars after raising a window and removing the window sill.

THE BACK-PEDALLING SNOOSE

can't see where he's going because he's so in love with where he's been

The SNOOSE is a manufacturer who plays it so safe that he pedals backward to keep his eye on where he's been. Naturally he can't see where he's going.

He would rather linger over his tiny past successes than feast on the big ones he could have. And if his advertising methods are out-of-date, so what? They've been safe so far, haven't they?

Fortunately the SNOOSE is rare. Most manufacturers look ahead to increasing sales.

They know that the best way to sell more products is to convince more people. And, since all business is local, they advertise in newspapers . . . because only the newspaper reaches just about everybody in town.

They know that when the newspaper moves into the living room, the family devours the news, the features, and the ads with equal enthusiasm.

No wonder manufacturers increased their newspaper advertising 12.8% in 1953* — an all-time record.

No wonder retailers continue to spend 85% of their ad dollars in newspapers.

All business is local . . . and so are all newspapers!

Scouts Win Awards For Window Show

Boy Scout Troop 6 of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church and Cub Pack 15 of the Reformed Church of The Comforter were the winners in the recent window display contest honoring the 44th birthday of the Boy Scouts of America.

The winning Troop 6 window was located in the Diehl store, corner of Broadway and Elmendorf street, and featured the various phases of scouting from Tenderfoot through the Eagle ranks. Pack 15 window, located in Union Fern at 328 Wall street, had as its theme the "Birthday Month," and featured the birthdays of Lord Baden Powell, founder of the Boy Scout movement, George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, the Cub Scouts, and the Boy Scouts.

Both winning units were presented with awards from the Elston Sport Shop, official Boy Scout headquarters.

Other units participating in the window contest were Troops 5, 8, 9, 11 and 12; Explorer Post 11, and Cub Packs 7 and 15.

Case Adjusted

A negligence action brought by Henry Castens against Stanley Y. Ellerthorpe, in which a jury was selected Monday afternoon in County Court, was adjusted. Arthur E. Ames for plaintiff and Herman Haken for defendant.

This Red Hen Lays Two at a Time

When Clifford Cashdollar of Barclay Heights, Saugerties, collected eggs from the coop the other day, he found an exceptionally large one 10¾ inches in circumference laid by this New Hampshire red hen. She's two years old. Cashdollar said the egg weighed the same as a half dozen regular ones, shown with it on plate. And, as the photo reveals, there was an egg within the egg, shell and all. (Freeman photo)

Warmer February Day Recorded in Month Last Year

If you figured that yesterday's temperature of 66 degrees at 2 p. m., was a record for that date, it was, as the city engineer's records go, but if your memory is at its best you'll recall that February last year had one warmer day.

On Feb. 21, 1953, the mercury hit the record high of 72 degrees, and that's that, unless we have a warmer one coming up before the 28th.

The mercury at 60 by 10 a. m., today indicated it might reach or surpass yesterday's high.

Yesterday's summery spell seemed to have its effect about town.

At 4:50 p. m., police headquarters was notified of a rock slide on the Boulevard near Leherb's Restaurant and at 1:45 a. m., today boulders were reported in the road on South Wall street.

Officers John Crespino and Charles McCullough reported that the public works department cleared the rock from the Boulevard and Officer Anthony Turck and Special Benjamin Osterhoudt, who were dispatched to South Wall street this morning, said they removed the rock there.

A hydrant was reported leaking at 8:07 a. m., today on Gross street with no indication that the weather had anything to do with that. The water department was notified.

Parking Help

Boston (AP)—Boston officials are increasing the car parking space from 22 to 25 feet on several streets to make it easier—and quicker—for motorists to park.

paid back from thruway toll revenues. Unlike the 500 million already borrowed, however, the new bonds would not be backed by state credit.

The second bill empowers the Authority to use two bridges from the mainland to Grand Island, in the Niagara river, for its Buffalo-Niagara spur, or to build new parallel bridges, or both. The Authority already has bought the two existing bridges.

No estimate was given of the cost of each spur or the extension. However, the cost of building each mile of Thruway has been placed at $1,350,000.

Meanwhile the Democrats renewed their assault on Gov. Dewey and the Thruway Authority.

Joint Statement

Sen. Nathaniel T. Helman of the Bronx and Assemblyman Frank Composto of Brooklyn, said in a joint statement supporting their party resolution for a probe of the authority:

"The people have a right to an immediate auditing and comprehensive investigation of the Thruway Authority since its inception."

They said that "despite the glowing testimony offered by Gov. Dewey by way of an apology for the non-performance of this thruway and the non-fulfillment of his own promises concerning its construction...the thruway is still a long way from its goal.

Bertram D. Tallamy, authority chairman, replied that "the Democratic legislative miniority, in its hypocritical clamor for investigations, has been reduced to a monotonous repetition of previously refuted charges against the Thruway Authority.

Cases in Court Before Cashin

A certificate of death was filed by district Attorney Howard C. St. John in County Court this morning after which he moved for a dismissal of a sealed indictment which charged the late Isham Morzet of Ellenville with violation of the Election Law, alleged to have been committed last March 17, at a village election in Ellenville. It was charged Morzet had violated Section 764, Sub. 4, in electioneering at the polls during a village election when a mayor and two village trustees were elected. Morzet died at Veterans Memorial Hospital in Ellenville recently. Judge Cashin dismissed the indictment.

An indictment charging Charles Hoagland with grand larceny, first degree, was dismissed on motion of Bernard A. Culloton.

Robert Stapleton moved for disposition of a grand larceny charge against Vasileos Alexopolous under the Youthful Offender statute. The case involved the taking of a car. Defendant waived his rights to a jury trial and consented to have his case treated under the Youthful Offender law. The indictment was ordered sealed.

Peter Diklich of Shandaken charged with forgery, second degree, in four counts entered a plea of guilty to the first two counts of the indictment and under each of the counts was sentenced to a term of 1½ to 3 years in Clinton State prison, each sentence to run concurently. Execution of sentence was suspended and Diklish was placed on probation. Robert Ortale appeared by assignment for Diklich and moved for dismissal of the other two counts of the indictment and cancellation of bail. The motion was granted. Dicklich was charged with forging a check for $100 on the State of New York National Bank. A former order forfeiting bail was vacated.

A case of Raymond Hanyon, also known as John Haynon, was held over to February 23 at 10 o'clock. Haynon has entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry. Michael Nardone appears for defendant.
